

CHINA

No. 37070

MONDAY, JUNE 9, 1958.

THE WEATHER: Moderate E winds. Fair.

MAIL

Price 20 Cents

RELAX IN DAKS
THE HARMONY COMPANY
IN ACTION TROUSERS
Whiteaways
HONGKONG & KOWLOON

COMMENT OF THE DAY

Make It Tougher

EDUCATION in Hong Kong is a sore point with many people and usually when someone wants to raise the standard of education here, many people object. The present controversy over the General English paper of the School Certificate examination, which was held last week, shows the difference of opinion in the Colony.

Although this year's paper is admittedly harder than last year's and the two previous ones, the Education Department must be commended for trying to raise the standard of English among students sitting for the School Certificate.

The Right Way

THE standard of English, generally, of students who have passed the School Certificate is rather low at present, and by gradually making the English papers harder each year the Education Department is setting about the right way to improve the standard of English of students in Hong Kong.

It is of little use if the Education Department bows to the whims of the general public every year and sets papers accordingly. To do so may please parents and some students and teachers, too, for they must always welcome a higher percentage of passes if only for the sake of their own prestige. But lower standards in this case, undermine values which all must deplore, particularly students themselves.

Many who receive their School Certificate leave school to find jobs. If their command of English is limited, they will find they are ill-equipped to face the trials of job-hunting in the Colony.

A "Passport"

THE School Certificate should be a "passport" to a good job in Hong Kong and not just a piece of paper to show that a student has passed some examination. Although the Certificate is now regarded as an indication that a person has received a certain standard of education — including English — some employers have been greatly disappointed at the standard of English shown by some Certificate holders.

Thus it is necessary to have a fixed standard of English for School Certificate students — and preferably a high one. What the Education Department might do is to let schools that they are going to raise the level of English in the School Certificate and set and mark papers accordingly.

Perhaps in the first two or three years of this system a smaller percentage of students would pass, but in the long run it would benefit a new generation of students and Hong Kong as a whole.

We Fight For Human Rights!

—MAKARIOS

Visiting Greek Cypriot Archbishop Makarios declared today that men of religion are duty bound to fight for human rights.

Makarios visited the 100-year-old Al Ashar Mosque here and afterwards conferred with its Rector, Sheikh Abdul Rahman Tag. The mosque is one of the major theological institutes of the Muslim world.

Archbishop Makarios and Sheikh Abdul Rahman Tag after their talk that religious teaching exhorted them not to confine their activities within the walls of churches or mosques. It was their duty as religious leaders to fight for men's "inalienable birthrights" in the material world, they said.

Sheikh Abdul Rahman Tag, who is battling for Cyprus independence, said.

Woman, Boy Sought In Shooting Incident

Manila, June 9. Philippine Constabulary authorities today sought a woman and a boy to shed light in the fatal shooting of Ralph Morrison, a young British nautical engineer, in Batangas Province on Thursday evening.

The woman, who was reported to have entertained Morrison and Raymond Graham, a crew member of the tanker Coltex Wellington, disappeared shortly after constabulary and police investigators inquired into the killing.

Morrison, 21, of Newcastle, England, was shot to death by Zaccarias Espelcia, a policeman of Buayan Town, Batangas.

SELF-DEFENCE

Preliminary investigations conducted by the constabulary and the police showed that Espelcia fired at Morrison "in self-defence." It was said that Morrison "assaulted" the policeman as the latter tried to pacify him.

A seven-year-old boy who witnessed the killing also could not be located today.

The British Embassy in Manila brought the incident to the attention of higher Philippine authorities. The Constabulary was directed to make a "thorough" investigation of the case and submit their findings immediately. —U.P.I.

De Gaulle Suffers First Setback In Senate

TWO SEATS LOST

PARIS, June 8. GAULLIST candidates lost two seats in French Senate elections today. It was the first political setback for General Charles de Gaulle since an Army revolt in Algiers swept him back to power a week ago.

The defeated candidates were out-going Gaullist Senators Charles Deutchmann and Madame Marcelle Devaud.

They represented the Seine (Paris) Department in the Upper House, now called the Council of the Republic.

They campaigned on the Gaullist ticket. But the General who claims to be above political parties did not publicly support them.

Meanwhile, in Washington, the French Ambassador, Guy de Munnich, said today that France's "under" General Charles de Gaulle would strengthen its role in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

He predicted Premier de Gaulle would solve the Algerian problem which would free the French Army to carry out its commitments under NATO.

M. Alphand also said General de Gaulle would create a "strong, stable government in France" — and that means a lot.

M. Alphand's remarks in an ABC television interview were apparently designed to knock down reports that the World War II French leader is cool to NATO.

M. Alphand said he was confident that General de Gaulle's proposals for complete equality of Moslems and Christians in the French National Assembly would meet with general acceptance.

M. Alphand also said he hoped the French people would have "very, very, very" in favour of constitutional reforms. —U.P.I.

Curfew Clamped On Nicosia

Nicosia, June 8.

Screaming Turkish Cypriots invaded the Greek quarter of Larnaca tonight in a new outburst of savage rioting over control of this British island bastion.

First official reports listed two Greeks killed and many more were feared injured. Another two Greeks died last night when the weekend violence exploded here in the capital. British residents also came in for stone-throwing.

British officials clamped a curfew on Larnaca and rounded up 50 Greeks and 30 Turks in Nicosia as an aftermath of the earlier clash.

They told Cypriots the Nicosia curfew would be lifted tomorrow if there was no more violence.

A mob of Turks armed with clubs poured into the Greek quarter of Larnaca a port 30 miles southeast of Nicosia in a counter-attack to earlier Greek gatherings, police said.

Britons Attacked

British residents were also attacked by the Turks. A British schoolteacher, Mrs. Flynn, telephoned a dramatic account of the fighting to Nicosia.

"Guns are firing all around us," she said. "The house is besieged."

The howls of the Turkish mob could be heard over the telephone line.

The Turks attacked after a crowd of Greeks gathered in one of the main squares armed with sticks and clubs. They forced their way into the Greek quarter, rampaging through parks and gardens and badly damaging several houses.

Official reports of the clash said that four Greeks incurred stab wounds and the houses of many British residents were heavily stoned.

New Outburst

The newest outburst of violence followed the bombing last night of the information office of the Turkish consulate in Nicosia. The bomb was thrown by a man who escaped in a fast car.

Within a few minutes angry groups of Turkish Cypriots had gathered in front of the consulate.

They shouted that Greek Cypriots were responsible for the bombing, in which little damage was done and no one was injured.

The Greek-owned automobiles, setting them alight.

Greek Orthodox church bells began chiming, signalling Greek defenders to rally for the protection of their group.

As the church bells rang, pajama-clad Greek Cypriots rushed into the streets.

British troops then moved into the disputed area and stretched barbed wire barricades across the "border" line separating the Greek and Turkish communities.

Ghost Town

Nicosia was a ghost town this morning in the wake of the communal rioting, in which two Greeks were reported killed, "scores" injured and tremendous property damage was done.

Greece Turns To Nato

ATHENS, June 8. THE Greek Government announced tonight that it had decided to request a special session of the Permanent Council of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization on the Cyprus issue.

The announcement, issued by the Greek Foreign Ministry, said that the decision was taken following news of Turkish-Greek disturbances on the island.

The announcement said that the Greek Government had asked the Nato representative to request a special meeting of the Council to denounce new acts of vandalism by the Turks.

The announcement said these acts "very likely constituted a premeditated plan aimed at exerting pressure on the British Government at the time the latter was preparing to make public its proposals for a solution of the Cyprus problem." —France-Press.

The Coin Caused It All!

LONDON, June 8. When Jean Baxler, aged 10, caught her finger in a manhole cover, firemen were unable to free her — so she and the manhole cover were taken to hospital to be repaired.

Jean had been trying to retrieve a dropped coin. —China Mail Special.

Suspected Cargo Of Opium On Speedboat

SINGAPORE, June 8. Customs officers said today they had seized a suspected consignment of opium weighing 1,000 pounds from a speedboat off the Colony.

They said the consignment would be subjected to laboratory tests tomorrow. If it was opium, it would be worth about $1,400,000, they said.

They said two Chinese had been detained. —Reuters.

MACMILLAN HOPES FOR SUMMIT CONFERENCE

Indianapolis, June 8.

Mr Harold Macmillan, the British Prime Minister, declared today that he personally hoped there would be an East-West summit conference.

He told a press conference here he believed the world would take hope from such a top-level meeting.

The Prime Minister said he would have a meeting with the French Prime Minister, General Charles de Gaulle, when he returned to London from the talks which he will start tomorrow in Washington with President Eisenhower and Mr John Foster Dulles, the U.S. Secretary of State.

He confirmed a report that he had sent a personal letter to General de Gaulle suggesting the meeting.

He had a very friendly response to that message," the Prime Minister added.

The Prospects

The Prime Minister held the press conference shortly after his arrival from Washington.

Mr Macmillan journeyed to his mother's home state of Indiana to address graduation exercises at De Pauw University at Greencastle.

He was asked whether he agreed with the statement made by Mr Dulles in Washington last Thursday that there was little prospect of a summit conference.

Mr Macmillan replied: "The prospects for a summit meeting depend on two things.

"Firstly, upon the work which the ambassadors are now doing and whether that is done in a sincere mood; and, secondly, upon whether we feel, all of us, that we can have a meeting with some reasonable chance of some progress."

Don't Want

"But I do not want a summit meeting which has no results and leads not to the removal of tensions but to their acceleration," he said.

When asked if he could suggest how best to solve the Algerian crisis, Mr Macmillan replied: "By a Frenchman."

Asked further if Britain and the United States could use their influence in the Algerian question, the Prime Minister said the best influence they could exercise would be to "give our sympathy and assistance to the French Government who are primarily responsible."

He said the situation which had led to the formation of the French Government by General de Gaulle offered an opportunity to France, under the General's leadership, to solve many of her outstanding problems.

"I hope and pray he will be able to preside over a period when some of these difficulties can be resolved," Mr Macmillan added.

The Prime Minister said he had always been, on the best terms with French Prime Ministers.

"In this case I also have the advantage of having had a long personal relation with General de Gaulle during the (Second World) war," he said.

Answering more questions on the summit, he said that he thought some of the conditions under which there might be a relaxation of tension were already present.

He said they had to go ahead and explore the possibilities in a hopeful spirit.

"I want there to be a conference and I want it to be successful," he added.

Asked whether he agreed with Mr Dulles' recently stated view that the danger of war had receded in the last five years, the Prime Minister replied with a smile: "I always agree with Mr Dulles — especially when he agrees with me." —Reuters.

Portugal's New President: Americo Tomas

Lisbon, June 8.

Rear Admiral Americo Tomas, the Government candidate, won today's election for the Portuguese Presidency, it was officially announced tonight.

Rear-Admiral Tomas won "by a large percentage of votes," the Minister of the Interior announced.

The Minister, Dr Joaquim de Negreiros, told a press conference: "With the majority of the results known, we can already state that Rear-Admiral Americo Tomas won the election by a large percentage of votes."

There were two opposition candidates — General Ubaldo Delgado, 53-year-old Director of Civil Aviation, an Independent, and Dr Arlindo Vicente, 52, a Lisbon lawyer.

But Dr Vicente announced he would give his votes to General Delgado for the sake of a unified opposition.

Rear-Admiral Tomas, 63, has been Navy Minister since 1944 in the cabinet of Dr Antonio Salazar, who has been in power since 1926. —Reuters.

Meanwhile, the Minister of the Interior, Trigo de Negreiros, said at a press conference tonight that about a hundred persons were arrested during the last electoral campaign, for subversive agitation.

He confirmed that the outlawed Portuguese Communist Party may have played a part in the campaign agitation.

In answer to a question, he said that Professor Vieira de Almeida, Liberal Monarchist and President of the opposition's national candidature committee, had been arrested because he had written and signed a manifesto "urging people to win by every means."

PRANKSTERS PUT VAN ON BUILDING!

Cambridge, June 8.

A seven horse-power van perched precariously on the 150 feet high senate house of Cambridge University startled early risers here today. Crowds of town folk gathered round the building as word spread of the best ever undergraduate prank in memory, outdoing the hazardous but conventional pot-on-spike feats of the past.

How did the pranksters get the van, weighing about half a ton, on the roof? Most favoured theory is that they used scaffolding stacked nearby and improvised a hoist. —China Mail Special.

Development Of 'Bandung Spirit' For World Peace Advocated

Tokyo, June 9.

The Indonesian Ambassador to China, Wirjopranoto, called on Saturday for further development of the "Bandung spirit" for world peace, the New China News Agency reported today.

The Agency said that the Indonesian envoy sounded his call as 250 students from 22 nations, who are now studying in Peking, met to celebrate the second anniversary of the Asian-African Students' Conference.

The gathering, the Agency said, was sponsored by the Indonesian students in Peking.

JUST STRUGGLE

"We should develop the Bandung spirit further and exert ourselves to defend world peace," the Agency quoted Wirjopranoto as saying.

He added, according to the Agency, "the just struggle of the Indonesian people received support from the Soviet Union, China and other socialist countries, and also from people all over the world." —U.P.I.

here it is...

FIAT—the new 500

FOR ECONOMICAL MOTORING

60 MPH — $6290.00 — 60 MPG

A BIG CAR IN MINIATURE

Regent Motors

KING'S PRINCESS

★ SHOWING TO-DAY ★

Lee & Astor
17436 (Banking Office) 67777

FINAL TO-DAY
SPECIAL TIMES AT 2.00, 4.45, 7.15 & 9.45 P.M.

COMING SOON

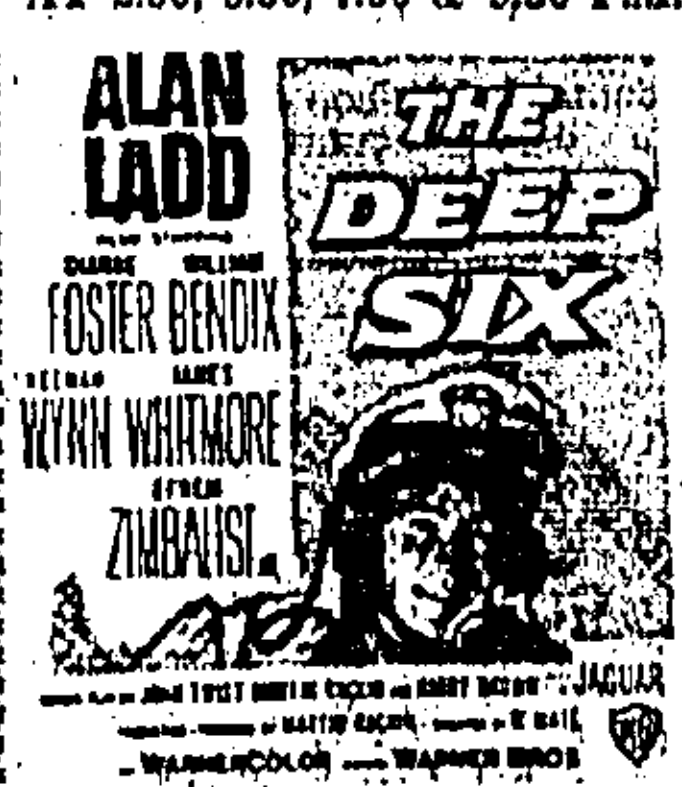

CAPITOL RITZ

FINAL TO-DAY
AT 2.30, 5.30, 7.30 & 9.30 P.M.

ORIENTAL MAJESTIC

TO-DAY
AT 2.30, 5.30, 7.30 & 9.30 P.M.

SHOWING TO-DAY
AT 2.30, 5.30, 7.30 & 9.30 P.M.

NEXT CHANGE —
ANDY GRIFFITH in
"A FACE IN THE CROWD"

Island of outrages on the verge of Civil War NEW CYPRUS PLAN

By SEAGHAN MAYNES

London, June 8.

Britain's new plan for Cyprus which will be announced within a week, is expected in political circles here to propose a large measure of internal self-government in which the rival Greek and Turkish Cypriot communities would co-operate.

Details of the new policy which has been formulated after diplomatic talks in Ankara, Athens and London are being kept secret but unofficial indications are that it will avoid any immediate actions on Greek-Cypriot demands for the island colony's union with Greece or the minority Turkish-Cypriot demands for partition.

Its aim would be to bring about a truce and peaceful conditions in which final solution on the island's future could be worked out.

Cut out the Baby Talk

London, June 8.
A headmistress has appealed to parents to wean children from baby talk before sending them to school.

Some mothers always say "bow wow" for dog, "puff puff" for train, and "gee gee" for horse, says Mrs. Nora Britton, headmistress of an infant school at Egham, Surrey, writing in a Surrey teaching journal.

Baby talk "may be an endearing habit to a few close relatives but it is irritating to the majority of people and therefore quite unfair to the child," Mrs. Britton adds.

Before mothers send their five year olds to school they should teach them their surnames and addresses and how to ask permission to go to the toilet.

One small boy kept telling Mrs. Britton, who has no children of her own, that he wanted to be a good boy. It took an hour and a half for her to realise that he wanted to go to the lavatory.

China Mail Special.

New Air Traffic Safety Control

PILOTS WILL HAVE A PICTURE BEFORE THEM AS THE GLOBE ROLLS BY BELOW

New York, June 8.

A New York firm announced development tonight of a new air-borne air navigation system designed to reduce mid-air collisions by enabling pilots to stay on course with pin-point accuracy.

The firm, General Precision Equipment Corp., said the new system would cut down on plane operational costs and free overloaded ground control centres for other work.

GPEC President Edwin A. Link said the new equipment had been produced by his firm for the air force since 1948 but it was classified until 1957. He said its accuracy and efficiency had been "proved."

Mr. Link said the equipment needed no ground guidance, no search radar, and no optical observations for navigation.

"It is usable in time of national emergency," he said, "because it will not be affected by the destruction of ground-based aids."

The new system is called the High Density Air Navigation (Hindan) method of flight control and is fully automatic and carried within the airplane.

Using Hindan, Mr. Link said, pilots will have before them at all times a picture of precisely where the airplane is in relation to where it is supposed to be. With the equipment, pilots can execute their prescribed flight programmes to way-points and destinations with precision, he said.—U.P.I.

Hinds Reaches Ireland

London, June 8.

The Daily Mail today prints two letters signed by Britain's ace gaolbreaker, Alfred George Hinds, in which he claims to be in the Irish Republic.

Police all over Britain have sought the 41-year-old convict since he climbed a wall at Chelmsford Prison eight days ago on his third escape from 800.

One letter, to Hinds' wife, Lila, urges her to join him with their children in Ireland when the school holidays start.

A second letter, to the Daily Mail, ends "Gee, are justice and I will return at once."

It is written on Chelmsford Prison notepaper.

Both letters were postmarked Belle Atha Clith — Dublin's central sorting office.

They demand that a select committee of the House of Commons investigate his conviction and sentence, and repeat his claim that he did not take part in a £38,000 sterling furniture store robbery for which he was jailed in 1953.—China Mail Special.

French Army In Complete Control

By PETER WEBB

Algiers, June 8.
Army commander General Raoul Salan told his troops tonight his appointment as Algeria's Delegate General was a proof of General Charles De Gaulle's "total confidence" in the Army.

In a special order of the day to 40,000 French troops Salan said his appointment, which makes him Algeria's supreme military and civil authority, was a proof to you as well to me of the total confidence that General De Gaulle has placed in the Army.

The order hammered home the fact that the army was now in complete control in Algeria.—U.P.I.

Papers Closed

Djakarta, June 8.

The Djakarta radio said today the Indonesian military authorities had ordered the closure of two Chinese newspapers in Medan, North Sumatra.—Reuter.

Malay Political Supremacy

Tunku Supports Chinese Rights In Malay Union

Kuala Lumpur, June 8.
The Prime Minister, Tunku Abdul Rahman, today stood by his Chinese partners in Malaya's government.

The Tunku's United Malays National Organisation, the Malayan Chinese Association, and the Malayan Indian Congress, together make up his alliance coalition government.

Today at the annual general assembly of the U. M. N. O., three separate attempts to reduce M.C.A. representation on the Alliance National Council were defeated after the Tunku had opposed them.

But the meeting agreed that the Alliance executive committee would have six U. M. N. O. and five M. C. A. representatives, instead of six of each as at present.

In proposing one move to cut Chinese representation on the council, a delegate, Inche Ariffin Ali, said the meeting should not fritter away the Malays' political supremacy—the only right they had left.

The Prime Minister said that if Chinese representation was to be reduced, then the U.M.N.O. would have to contribute most of the Alliance funds. And the U.M.N.O. was short of money.

He said that on the question of loss of Malay political supremacy, it had been agreed that the chairman of the National Council and the executive committee should be picked from U.M.N.O. representatives.

He said also that all decisions of the council and executive committee had to be unanimous.—Reuter.

LONDON VICE

U.S. JUDGE SAYS U.K. A LAND OF PIMPS PROSTITUTES AND REVERSON

London, June 8.
Judge John M. Muirhead, chief magistrate of New York City, described as "an American famous for his fight against corruption" declared:

"I have seen prostitutes stopping motorists in the middle of the afternoon. I have watched prostitutes and their customers openly standing in doorways and under trees in public places at all times of the day."

"My own wife has been leered at and inculted while walking in Hyde Park."

"My attention has been drawn to the rash of card adverts in newspapers' windows proclaiming the existence of every form of vice from call-girls to typists of perversion."

"And I am amazed at the afternoon 'nude shows' which are springing up in the West End."—China Mail Special.

Inauguration

Kuala Lumpur, June 8.

A Qantas super-Constellation Airline yesterday inaugurated Kuala Lumpur as a port of call on the company's Kangaroo route between Europe and Australia.—Reuter.

Back To The Barn

Nior, France, June 8.

The French goatherd novelist prodigy, Berthe Grimaud, was back in her farmstead home at Jassay today, hoping to recover her inspiration in her native setting after failing to write a line as a boarder in a stylish English girls' school.

All that Berthe, who returned home yesterday, acquired in her stay in England was a marked liking for pretty clothes and a determination never to mind the goats again.

Berthe hit world headlines a year ago when, as a virtual illiterate of 16, she wrote a best seller, "Beau Clown."

For Bertha

which was translated into several languages.

An English headmistress, Mrs. Orr Ewing, agreed to admit Bertha to her school to catch up on her studies, but had to report "no progress" on her pupil after several months of coaching.

Village postmaster Eliezer Fournier, who encouraged Bertha and his own daughter Sonia to write, accounted for Bertha's lack of progress in England by saying the girl was out of her own element while away from home and consequently had no impulse to write.—France-Press.

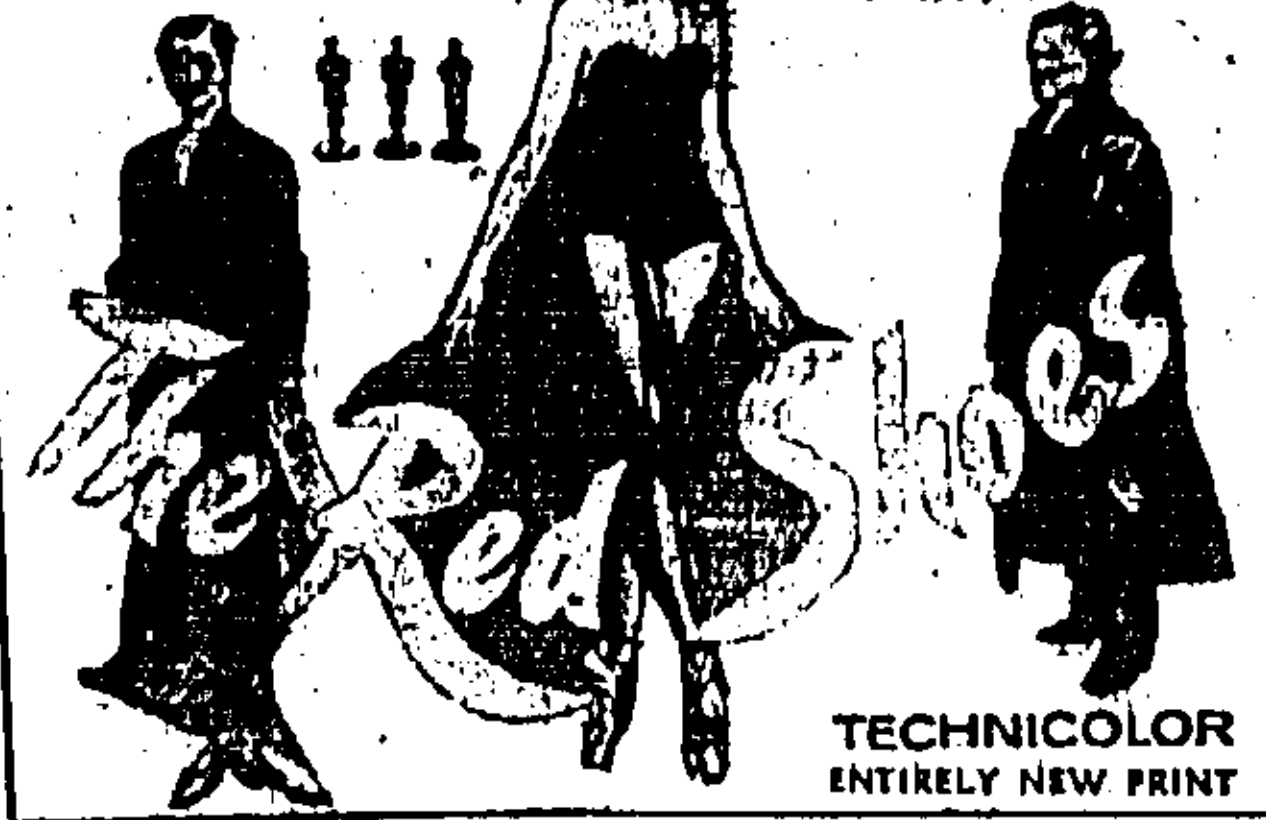

SHOWING QUEENS TO-DAY

AT 2.30, 5.00, 7.20 & 9.30 P.M.

SPECIAL PRICE TO STUDENTS
$1.50 to Dress-Circle & Back-Stalls

AN IMMORTAL CLASSIC!

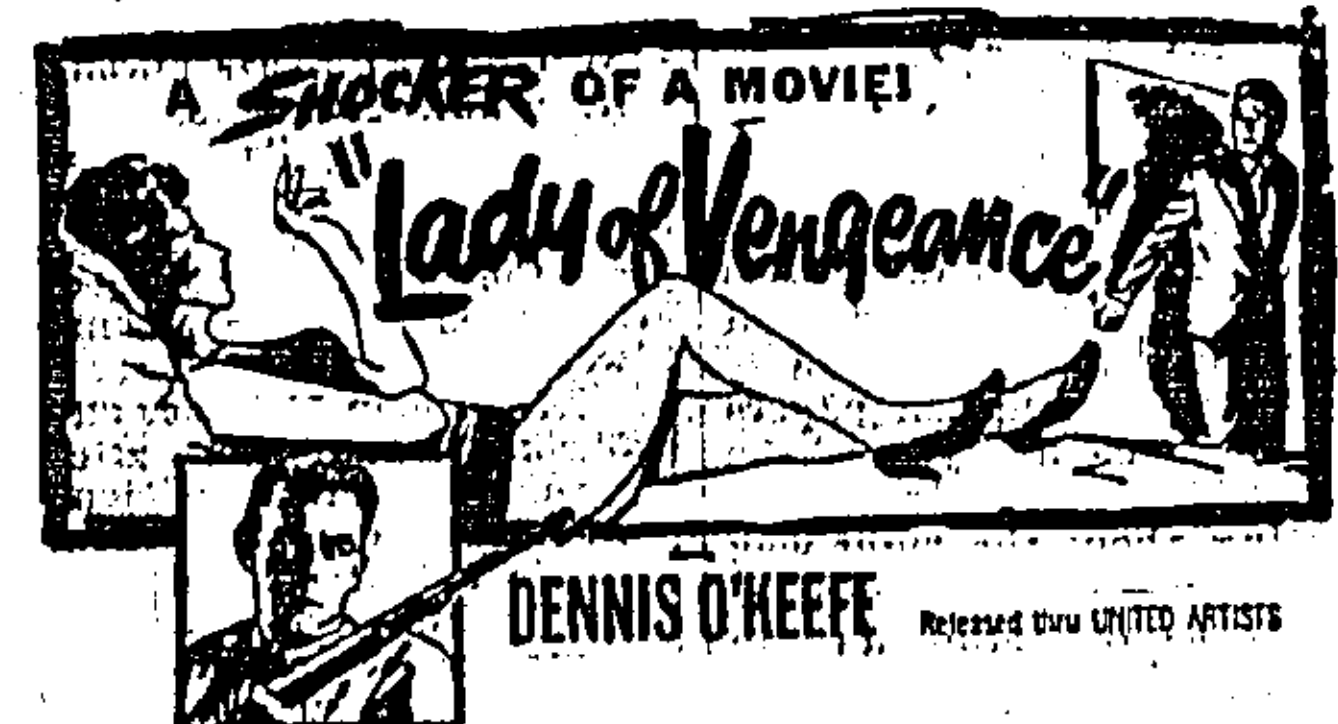

ANTON WALBROOK MOIRA SHEARER

STAR METROPOLE

★ SHOWING TO-DAY ★

AT 2.30, 5.30, 7.30 & 9.30 P.M.

★ NEXT CHANGE ★

HENRY FONDA

12 ANGRY MEN

IT EXPLODES LIKE 12 STICKS OF DYNAMITE!

— LEE J. COBB • ED BEGLEY and E.G. MARSHALL • JACK WARREN

PLEASE see it from the beginning!

ROXY & BROADWAY

— SHOWING TO-DAY —

AT 2.30, 5.30, 7.30 & 9.30 P.M.

THE ACTION PICTURE OF THE SEASON!

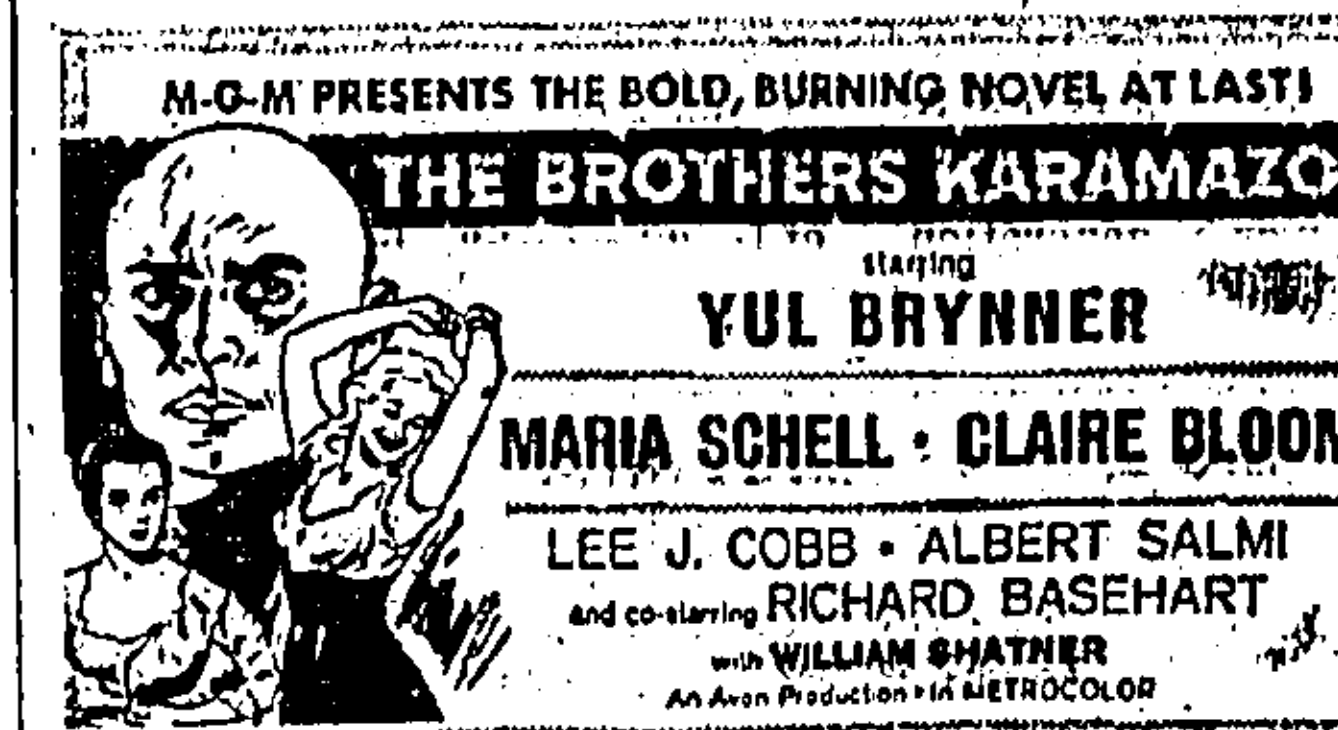

HOOVER LIBERTY

CLUBWAY BAY • TEL. 4544

TO-DAY: 2.15, 4.50, 7.20 & 9.45 P.M.

Please note time of performances has been changed

M-G-M PRESENTS THE BOLD, BURNING NOVEL AT LAST!

THE BROTHERS KARAMAZOV

starring YUL BRYNNER

MARIA SCHELL • CLAIRE BLOOM

LEE J. COBB • ALBERT SALMI

and co-starring RICHARD BASEHART

with WILLIAM SHATNER

An MGM Production in Technicolor

POP

POP

POP

POP

POP

POP

Broadening Of Inter-Dependence

Macmillan Wants Allies To Include Political And Economic Fields

By JOHN HEFFERNAN

Greencastle, Ind., June 8.

Mr Harold Macmillan today called for a broadening of Allied inter-dependence to include not only defence but also the political and economic fields.

"Just as the economies of the states of the union on this continent grew together 200 years ago, so, in some measure at least, must the economies of the free world today," he declared. He added that there were still "too many artificial barriers to free flow of money and trade in the free world."

The Prime Minister was speaking at the graduation exercises of De Pauw University in his mother's home state. He also received an honorary degree.

Freer Life

"...we have got to live and build, while we have the time, a fuller and freer life for ourselves and for all the world," he said.

"Whether it be in a great Commonwealth like ours or a great continent like yours, we can no longer afford to think parochially."

Mr Macmillan recalled that he and President Eisenhower had drawn up a "blueprint for inter-dependence" in Washington last October when the "inter-dependence is already a reality," the Prime Minister observed.

Can Develop

"In the field of defence it is becoming more and more effective. I believe that if we can develop it further in the political field, and in economic matters as well, then the cohesion of the free world will be so strong, its attractions so great, that the threat to our way of life will decline over the years."

Strengthening of the Western world's means to cope with the threat of Soviet economic penetration in the under-developed areas of the world is believed to be one of the major topics to be discussed by President Eisenhower and Mr Macmillan in their private talks which will open at the White House in Washington tomorrow.

A few miles from Greencastle is his mother's birthplace—Spencer, Indiana. Mr Macmillan's maternal grandfather was the first man to be graduated by De Pauw University's medical school.

Mr Macmillan said that the Communist system as a jungle

HAROLD MACMILLAN

We have got to live and build, while we have the time, a fuller and freer life for ourselves and for all the world," he said.

filled with cowering beasts seeking to devour each other, where there was bound to be starvation for the many and plenty for the few; and one in which violent race cycles and wars were inevitable was "utterly false."

Indivisible

"Nevertheless," he said, "two things are true, which we have not yet learned. First, prosperity, like peace, is indivisible; secondly, there are still too many artificial barriers to the free flow of money and trade in the free world."

"These barriers have grown up historically when modern civilisation and material progress were in their infancy. Indeed, when the political aims of the different countries in the free world were different, when the great alliances had not been forged, it was natural that governments should pursue separate and conflicting economic policies."

"But now our political aims are the same: we differ, if at all, on tactics and not on strategy. We all face a common danger."

Mr Macmillan said he would not go into any detail as to how the economies of the free world could be welded together. It was, in a sense, a job for the experts.

"But it is also the job of the statesmen to inspire and command the experts," he added.

Mr Macmillan said he thought it was too pessimistic a judgment to feel that the struggle between the Communist and non-Communist world was fated to end either in war or by the triumph of revolutionary Communism.

He said he could not believe that, in the long view, a country like Soviet Russia would not in due course be subjected to the normal development of all civilised people, when Soviet men and women would begin to ask themselves the old questions: "Why made us? Why are we here? What is the purpose of life? Is there a right and a wrong? Is there a sin? Is there a God?"

"This will not come about if we in the free world lose our own faith." "But if we hold on to our faith I am persuaded this day will come."

Mr Macmillan dealt at length with the uncommitted nations of Africa and Asia, when, in a reference to the two great forces in the world, he said they did not always face each other directly across an empty arena.

Uncommitted

"On the contrary," he declared, "the so-called uncommitted countries neither for nor against, comprise enormous numbers. Their role may well be vital. Naturally, in the countries of Asia and Africa new forces are at work. At first these are apt to take crude and dangerous shapes. But as nationalisms and national pride in itself a healthy thing, it is only wrong when it is twisted into aggression."

"Certainly we in Britain have considerable experience of these classes and have not been unresponsive to this new challenge. Since the end of the war, this process has been extended to peoples not of British stock. Thus we have transformed empire into Commonwealth."

"Of our own will and design we have set up in freedom great countries like India, Pakistan and Ceylon and recently Ghana, and the Malay States. Other new nations like the West Indies will in time join these ranks."

"I call them ranks; but it is no military discipline which keeps the Commonwealth together. It is not now even in all cases the not unity of creed or race or colour. Nevertheless, it is a real unity based upon old traditions common to our country and yours. It is the sense of government by debate and discussion, committees and parliaments; it is the independence of the judiciary, the universality of law. The ultimate success of the free world will perhaps depend on the degree to which we can spread these ideals to the hesitating and uncommitted countries."—Reuter.

Jet Raid On Rebels

Beirut, June 8.

Lebanese jet fighters this weekend attacked a band of about 500 rebels accompanying a mule train of military equipment near the Syrian border north of Baalbek, it was announced here today.

A statement said an anti-aircraft gun used against the attacking planes was destroyed. Some explosions, apparently from ammunition in the mule train, were caused by the planes, which dispersed the rebels.

Beirut today had its quietest day of the month-old crisis.—Reuter.

Anti-Spitting Campaign For Singapore In August

Singapore, June 8.

The Mayor, Mr Ong Eng Guan, today outlined a plan for his anti-spitting campaign which will start in August.

He said in a circular to the City Council Finance and General Purposes Committee, that representatives of schools, trade unions, and religious bodies would be asked to attend a meeting on August 1, where they would be invited to support the campaign.

The Mayor said he wanted the council to give prizes to councillors, to encourage them to promote the campaign in their constituencies.

He also proposed that prizes be given to restaurants, coffee-shops, theatres, hawkers' stalls, schools, factories, markets and canteens which co-operated.

Radio stations would be asked to give time to talks supporting the campaign.

The Mayor said he also wanted the government to help, by stamping mail during the month with anti-spitting slogans.

At the end of the month there would be a mass anti-spitting rally.

After the anti-spitting campaign will come similar drives against litter and goats.

The Mayor said he estimated all these campaigns would cost about $100,000.—Reuter.

LEBANESE TO BE TRIED

Jerusalem, June 8.

The Israeli Cabinet decided at a meeting today that the 14 Lebanese who were arrested on Friday trying to cross Israeli territory, should be tried in Israeli courts for illegal passage with arms.

The captured men carried Lebanese papers and belonged to the Lebanese opposition party. However, the question of turning them over to the Lebanese authorities will be brought up before the mixed Israeli-Lebanese armistice commission when it meets to consider Israel's complaint on this matter.

The captured men were from a Syrian training camp and were on their way to Lebanon when they were arrested. Three others were killed in a clash with an Israeli patrol.—France-Press.

GAMBLING RACKET NETS $300,000 A MONTH

Singapore, June 8.

Racketeers were making $300,000 a month from an illegal "chee-fah" lottery in Malaya, the Straits Times said today.

Bets in chee-fah are placed on 36 numbers.

The Times quoted the Selangor State Criminal Investigation Department

Chief, Mr T. Hamilton, as saying that bets brought in by agents were placed on a 36-number board.

The number with the least bets was declared the winner.

In cases, where numbers were more or less evenly backed, the organisers had been known to cancel

The new fly-over on the main London-Brighton road, and the new railway station, built in connection with the expansion of Gatwick Airport, Sussex. The steeply ramped roads bring motor traffic up to the level of the concourse and the main entrance of the Airport. The Brighton Road passes beneath the open well (in centre of picture).—Reuterphoto.

Nikita's Drive Against 'Over-Drinking' Gains Momentum

Moscow, June 8.

The Soviet press turned sharply on well-known Soviet movie stars, actors and singers today in a stepped-up campaign against drunkenness.

An officially-sponsored anti-overdrinking campaign has been proceeding here for months. It was touched off by Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev himself.

The weekend edition of the newspaper Soviet Culture attacked several entertainment celebrities with a broad charge of "anti-social behaviour."

One movie star on a Siberian tour performed at a workers' club in Komsomolsk in "an intoxicated state," it was charged.

The newspaper said that cases of such behaviour were widespread. Cultural Ministry officials already had called several artists on the carpet for their behaviour, Soviet Culture said.

After describing as "survivals of the past" the love lives of some of the stars under criticism, Soviet Culture quoted one letter sent in to the Ministry by a group of police officials which said that "the anti-social conduct of certain actors is justly qualified as a sore on a healthy body."

Soviet Culture instanced the case of famous cinema actor, Vladimir Druzhnikov, who turned up drunk at a workers' club where he was to give a lecture. Musicians of the Armenian National Orchestra and the Georgian "Petro" ensemble were also criticised for organising a debauch in a drunken state in a public place.

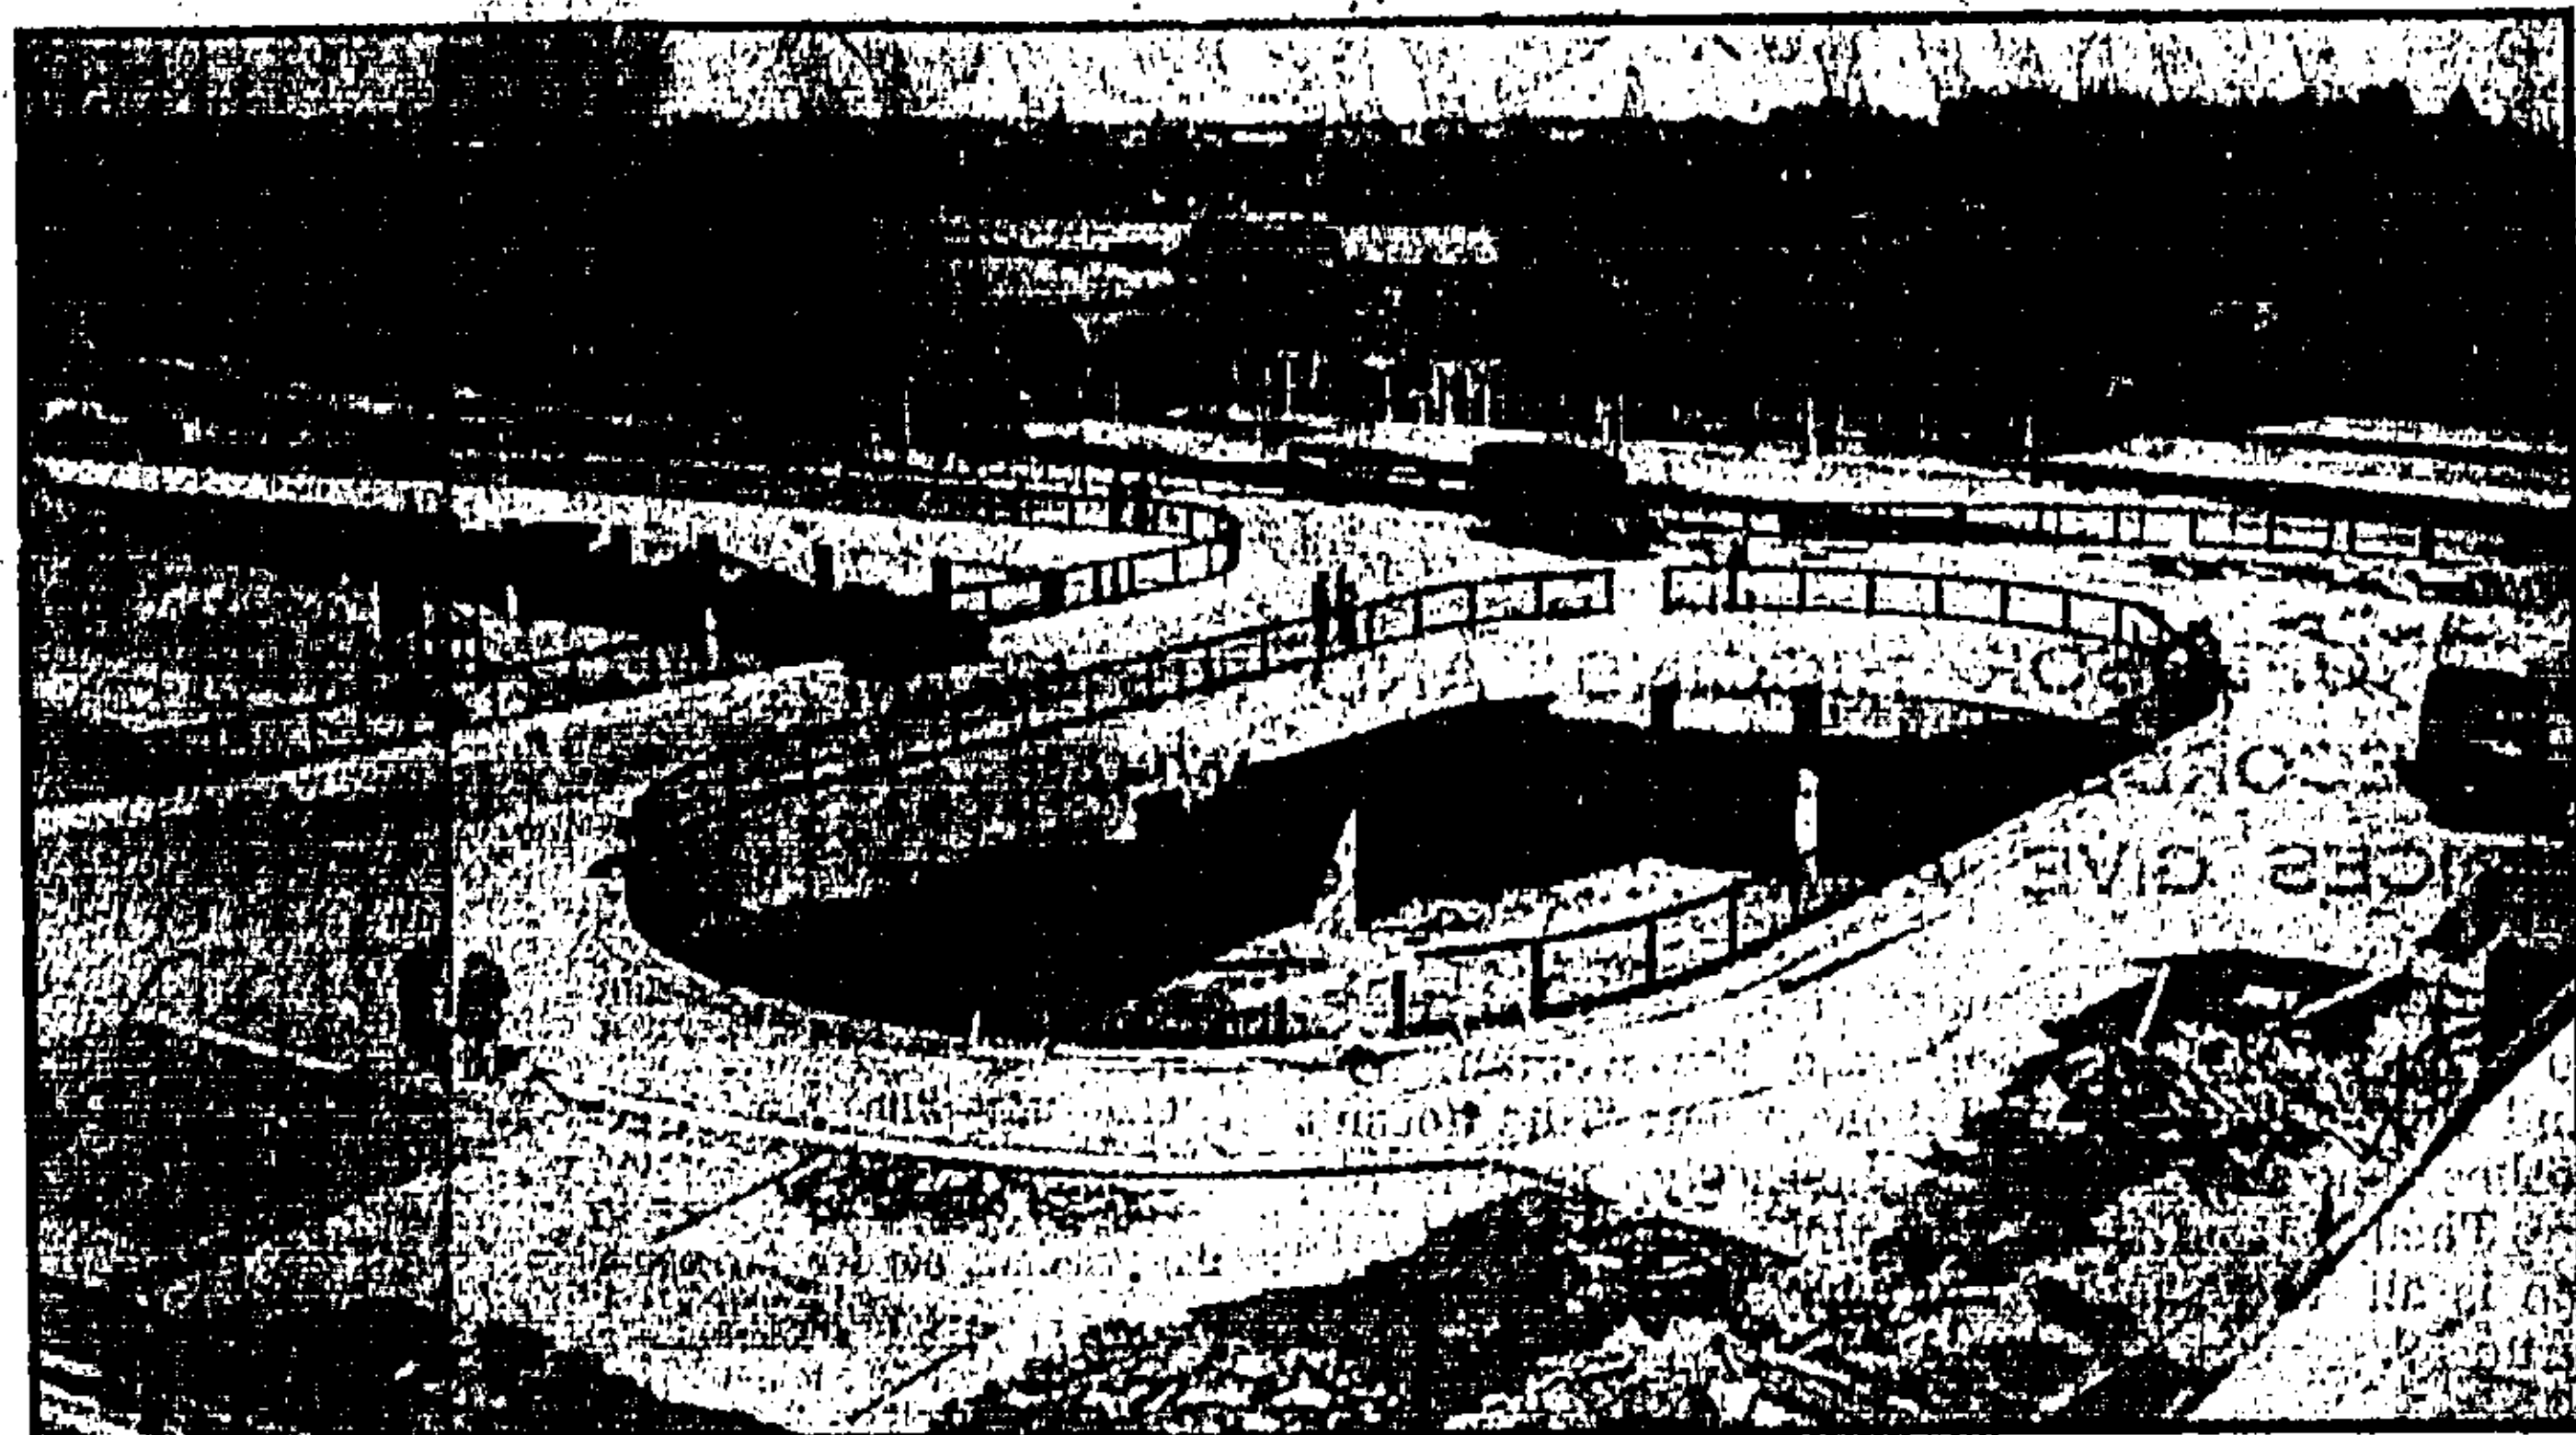

CLANDESTINE

The paper cited several cinema actors and actresses, who, for the sake of gain, organised clandestine concerts with the connivance of Soviet businessmen.

It added that actors Druzhnikov, Martynov and Gurichenko, who were summoned to appear before the Culture Ministry meeting, had all confessed their errors and promised "never again to sully the name of a Soviet artist."—France-Press and U.P.I.

The Times quoted Mr Hamilton as saying police were harassing the "small fry" in the racket—agents and runners—in the hope that eventually one of them would reveal his connections.—Reuter.

FLY-OVER IN SUSSEX

COLOUR TV COMPETES WITH SPUTNIKS AT POZNAN

Poznan, June 8.

The Poznan International Fair opened today with American colour TV and Soviet Sputniks competing for crowds.

For the first time, private American businessmen were among the 37 nations offering goods for sale at the fair, one of the largest market places in Eastern Europe. The American Government had a display last year.

Responsible

The Poznan Fair itself is indirectly responsible for the fact the U.S. was there. Two years ago, police workers rioted during the fair and laid the groundwork for the liberalisation of the Government which permits more contact with the West.

The price of the 1958 Ford was 63 dead and more than 300 arrested.

The Soviet pavilion is only the fourth largest at the fair, its main exhibition in two Sputniks, similar to the display at the Brussels Fair, and "not for export."

Impressed

The American pavilion, second biggest, is housed in a new glass and aluminium building that replaces last year's nylon tent. First day visitors were impressed by the array of goods designed for actual sale rather than display. Last year's $12,000 model home and expensive cars did not find immediate buyers.

There were colour television sets and a transmitter to demonstrate them, tractors, ploughs, textile machines, and other light machinery. One crowd pleaser was a machine to make 300 pairs of American blue jeans—popular with Polish youth—daily.

More than 3,000 books on science and economics will be donated to Poland by the U.S. after the end of the fair.

The largest exhibitor was West Germany, with 10,000 square yards, followed by the U.S., Britain, Russia (3,400), and France.—U.P.I.

New Saints To Be Considered

Vatican City, June 9.

Formal decisions will be taken today on whether to declare two new saints of the Roman Catholic Church.

The candidates for canonisation are Joaquina de Vedruna de Mas, a Spanish woman who founded the Institute of the Carmelite Sisters of Charity, and Carlo of Sezze, a Franciscan friar monk.

PLACET

Pope Pius XII will first ask the cardinals if they approve of the canonisations. They will signify their approval by saying in Latin "placet" (it pleases).

This consistory, held in secret, will be attended by all the cardinals of the Curia and any others who happen to be in Rome.

Then the consistory will be thrown open to patriarchs, archbishops and bishops and the same question will be asked. The 82-year-old Pius XII is expected to explain to them the reasons for the canonisations.—Reuter.

Are The Jews Human? He Asked: Convicted

Hanover, June 8.

A West German court at Himmelfrich, near here, today handed down a suspended sentence of four months' imprisonment against Edgar Fernau, 54, a school teacher, for having said that he was sorry all the Jews had not been gassed by the Nazis.

Fernau was said to have said, speaking in a barbershop, "Besides, the Jews are not human."

The sentence was handed down on a charge of "public approval of crimes and slander of the dead."

The sentence was lighter than one handed down on a similar charge last month against Ludwig Zind, 54, a school teacher of Offenbach, who was convicted of making similar statements.

Zind, who defended his assertions even during the trial, was sentenced to a year's imprisonment.—France-Press.

TO PLEAD GRIMSBY'S CAUSE

Grimsby, June 8.

Alderman Matt Larmour, Grimsby's Socialist Mayor, may go to Iceland to plead his town's cause in the Icelandic fishery limits dispute.

The Mayor wrote today to Sir Farndale Phillips, President of the British Trawlers' Federation, who said last week he was prepared "to go to Iceland to put the trawlerman's case."

Alderman Larmour told him: "If I can do any good I will go to Iceland with you."

DISASTROUS

Captain Dennis Welch, Secretary of Grimsby's 300-strong Skippers and Mates Guild, described as "disastrous" the reports that the Faroe Islands had announced their intention to put out their fishery limits to 12 miles as well as Iceland.

"Such a move would have a terrible effect on the quality of fish landed in this country," he said.—China Mail Special.

PROTECTING CURRENCY

Damascus, June 8.

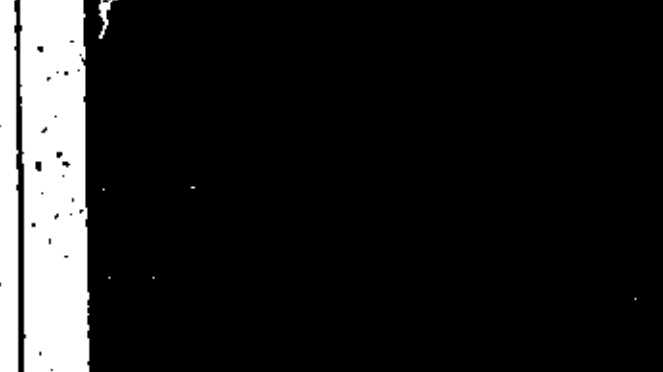

The United Arab Republic today imposed an exit fee of ten Syrian pounds for all UAR citizens leaving Syria, "to protect national currency and local markets from outside purchases."

President Gamel Abdel Nasser decreed that private cars leaving the area would be subject to an additional fee of 50 Syrian pounds.

The Syrian Interior Minister, Abdul Hamid Serraj, said the aim of the measure was "to protect national currency and local markets from outside purchases."

Its effect will be to restrict the number of profitable buying trips Syrians could make abroad.—U.P.I.

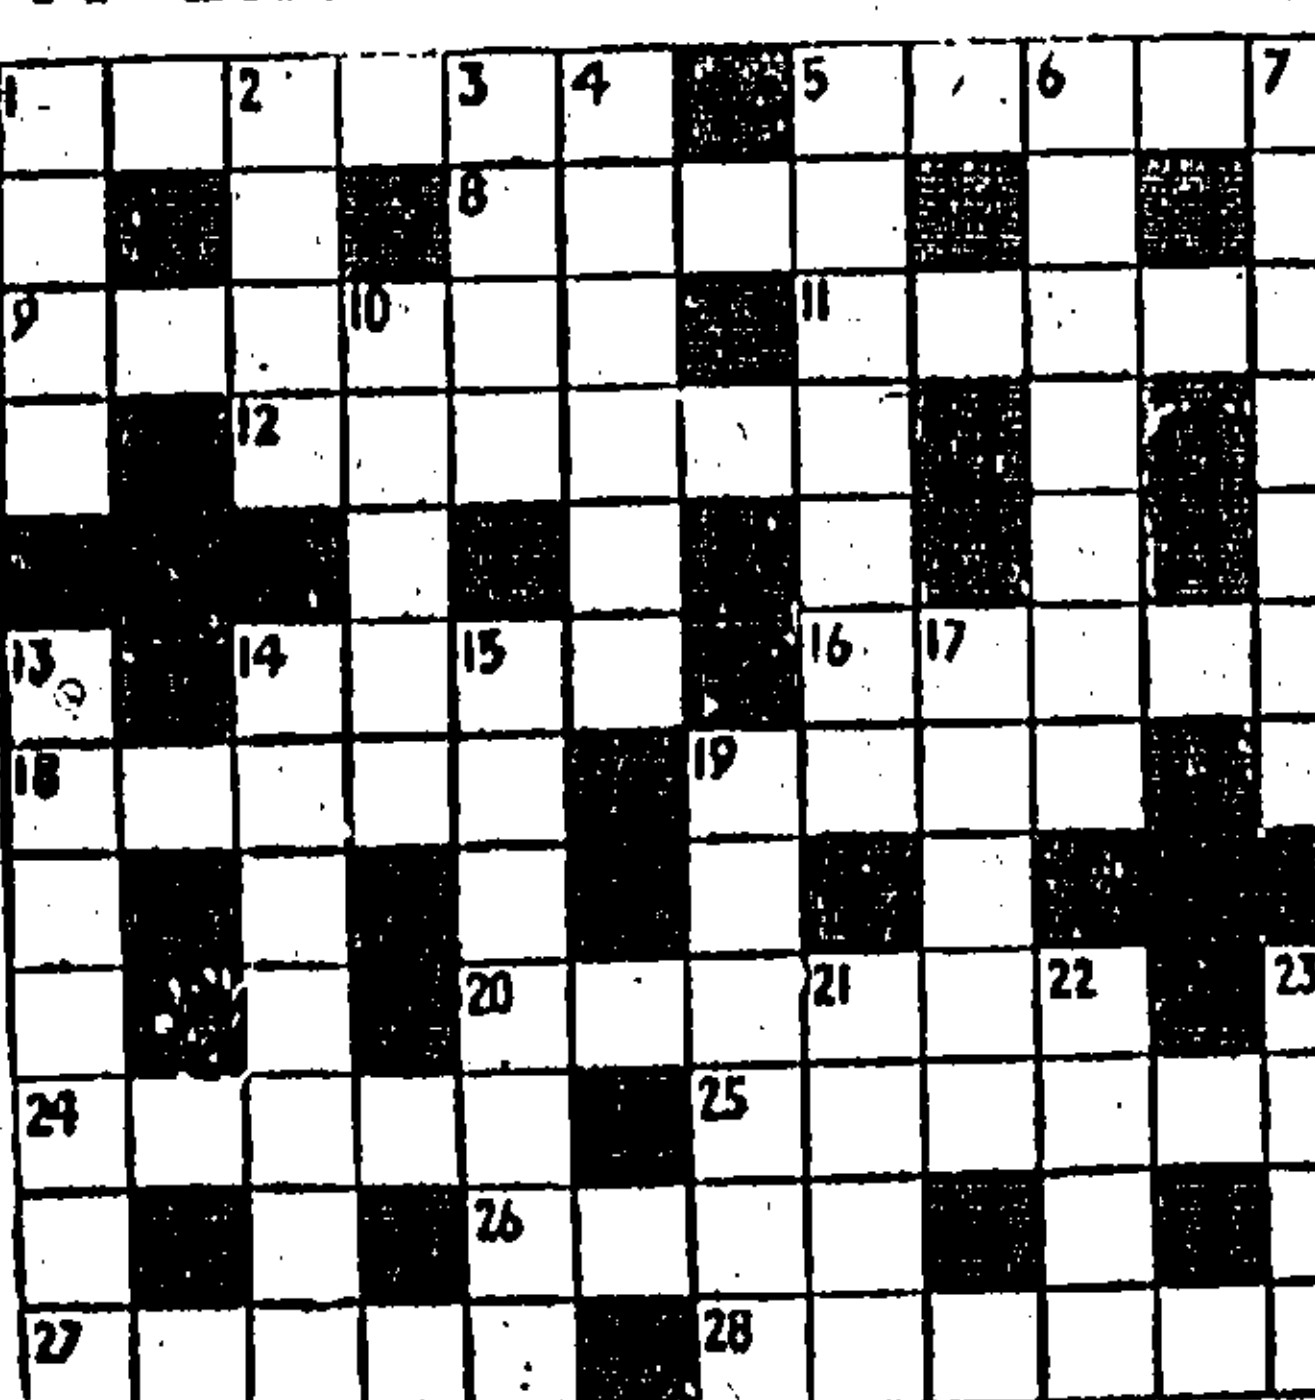

The Windy Nook Widow

The Windy Nook widow—Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Wilson—who had been sentenced to death after being found guilty of murdering by poison her second and third husbands, was granted a reprieve. It was announced in London recently.

Both her husbands, who were 76 years old, each died within a fortnight of marrying her.—Reuter.

A British Crossword Puzzle

ACROSS

1 Leaving with holes in! (6).

2 Tantalising (5).

3 Sign please (4).

4 What the latest craze created? (6).

5 Make yourself scarce (5).

6 Star dog—(and say nothing?) (3, 3).

7 Turns down—or up? (4).

8 Repair a puncture? (5).

9 Tackle (5).

10 Popular name in Germany (4).

11 Supporting a branch line? (6).

12 Journey's end for many a Mohammedan (5).

13 Tell-tale (6).

14 It's a rummy sort of concoction (4).

15 Peering perhaps (5).

16 Cuddle up (6).

SATURDAY'S CROSSWORD. — Across: 3 Limerick, 8 Horrid, 9 Flax-bite, 11 Fritters, 12 Pled, 13 Tutor, 16 Pares, 19 Ague, 22 Director, 24 Radiator, 25 Averse, 26 Treasure. Down: 1 Chair, 2 Trail, 3 Lift up, 4 Idle, 5 Eres, 6 Icicle, 7 Kneads, 10 Error, 14 Tuck, 15 Reserve, 16 Parrot, 17 Hurdle, 20 Star, 21 Hic, 22 Dail, 23 Nox.

LONDON UNIVERSITY STARTS STARTLING AND NOTABLE NEW EXPERIMENT

Does your Speech stamp you?

TRUE-LIFE 'PROFESSOR HIGGINS' AND HIS TEAM FACE TAPE-RECORDER TEST TO TELL WHAT
FAMOUS VOICES GIVE AWAY... by Merriek Winn

THE laboratory was quiet, except for a woman's tape-recorded voice. Five scientists listened and, without knowing who the woman was, they said: "She's large and fat." They listened more, then: "She doesn't bother too much about clothes, she's square cut, motherly, responsible, aged between 55 and 60." Then I told them who the woman was. Mrs Bessie Braddock, MP, who is all they said. Motherly and responsible. Large, certainly plump. And 59.

So the scientists were right—and the extraordinary experiments went on.

It was an experiment, at University College, London, to try to answer questions which all must ask who like, admit it or not, to hear ourselves talk.

Does voice reveal character? Or age and job? Can you hide your origin by putting a new voice as Professor Higgins made Eliza do in Shaw's "Pygmalion"? Or must your voice ALWAYS give you away?

It was an extraordinary experiment for this reason: it had never, so far as these scientists know, been carried out before and they predicted almost total failure.

Success

It can't be done, they said. But it could, and they

NESTUM
PRE-COOKED
Nestlé's
BABY CEREAL

From the fourth month onwards or according to doctor's advice, an addition to the milk diet is essential to meet the needs of baby's growth and development. Supplementary feeding ensures satisfactory progress and sounder sleep. The early introduction of a mixed diet promotes healthy bowel action and reduces tendency to constipation.

First I tape-recorded the voices of unconceited people who would only laugh if they came out badly (as some did). Famous people, ordinary people, a flower girl from Lambeth and a receiver of stolen goods not long out of gaol.

Note-taking

The experiment, carried out in a sound-proofed laboratory with double doors and windows, lasted nearly five hours, in charge with Dr D. B. Fry, head of the phonetics department at University College, and an internationally known voice expert.

His team included Dr Frieda Eisler, psychologist and speech expert; Mr A. C. Gimson, lecturer in Phonetic Association; Mr John Trim, lecturer in phonetics; and Miss Lucie Manen, teacher of singing.

All right, Dr Fry, shirt-sleeved, played each recording twice. The team made notes, argued the loss, sometimes asked for a third hearing, finally reached more or less agreement.

Like this—with Mrs Braddock:—

Fry: She comes from west of the Pennines, not too far north.

Gimson: Probably Lancashire, but she's lost a lot of her Lancashire characteristics. That may mean she speaks a lot in public.

Manen: Yes. Did you notice the slight smack of the lips before she started talking. She enjoys talking—for her it's like eating.

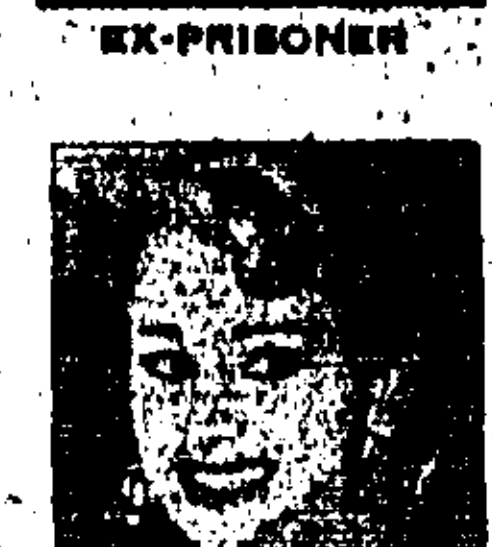

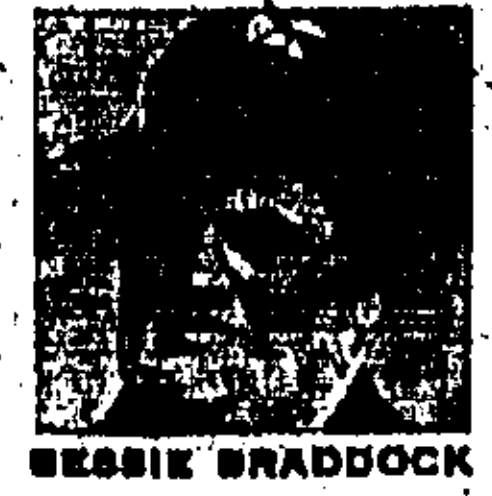

Fry: She's large and fat—it's a weighty voice.

Eisler: A motherly type, steady, very responsible.

Trim: Uncompromising. So there you are—Mrs Braddock. And all she had done was to read from a newspaper a lumbering piece about steel-workers. For about 60 seconds.

DR. FRY AT THE TAPE. BACKGROUND: THE PONDERING TEAM.

THE SECOND SITTING OF THE EXPERTS TOMORROW

Ronald Squire, the actor, read a letter from the Evening Standard in under two minutes while making up his dressing-room at the Prince's Theatre.

It probably took him about 30 minutes to make up, to pretend to be someone he isn't. It took Dr Fry and his team rather less than ten to strip him down to what he is. Like this:—

Fry: He's tall. Probably got a big nose.

Gimson: Very English, upper-class, university type.

Eisler: Self-confident, perfect phrasing. A politician? No, too good for that. Perhaps an actor.

Fry: He's got false teeth.

Trim: Right-wing in politics, possibly cynical. A club man, likes to be well thought of.

Manen: He likes the good life, French food and so on.

His age

Well, Ronald Squire is 5ft. 10½in., went to Wellington College, belongs to two clubs, likes cigars and although I know nothing about his teeth here is no doubt that his distinguished face bears a distinguished nose.

I know nothing either about his politics or his "cynicism" but I do know about his age. The team did not. They were wildly, and flatteringly, out.

Dr Eisler put him in his forties. Gimson said 50 to 55.

Fry said sixtyish. He is, in fact, 72.

How did the team get their results? I don't know, nor do the scientists. Here is a mystery.

No rules

Dr Fry told me afterwards: "We didn't expect to be so successful because there are so far no scientific rules for this kind of personality analysis."

"I believe the rules are there, waiting to be discovered, and the thing will one day be put on a scientific basis."

"But meanwhile we have to depend much more on intuition based on experience than on mathematical judgment."

But it was more than intelligent guesswork. There are some rules, even though sketchy ones. For instance, the team knew almost for certain Ronald Squire had a large nose from the sound of his voice (they were much less certain about the false teeth—"It's often impossible to tell").

"The true upper-class type doesn't mind. He can even lapse into coyness without getting self-conscious."

The team were right about T. S. Eliot (from a gramophone record).... "Oxford voice," sounds like sort of literary civil servant, over 60 because he speaks with authority and precision."

They were right, and wrong, about Diana Wynyard even though they found her voice one of the most difficult of the lot. Like this:—

Gimson: A trace of Welsh?

Fry: I don't think so. Possibly the North.

Trim: A British Council voice.

Eisler: Very competent, a career woman.

Gimson: Perhaps a novelist, or an administrator.

Fry: Whatever she is she's well established.

Manen: And temperamental. She mostly gurgles like a cat, but she has claws (by the "aggressive" way Miss Wynyard spoke certain phrases).

Not bad, but not good because Miss Wynyard is a Londoner. And over her age the team went to pieces. Only Gimson said she was around 40 (she is 52). All the rest said "in her thirties."

She recited

Then Sabrina. She recited for me a verse called, I believe, "Think Big," and she also read a bit from a newspaper. It all took about three minutes and here is the result:—

Gimson: Aged between 20 and 25. Filmmish.

Fry: There's a trace of American accent. Genuine?

Gimson: I was wondering. She's either a Windmill girl gone to Hollywood or a Hollywood girl come to the Windmill. Trim: A platinum blonde. Rest of the team: Why?

Trim: She must be good-looking. In the moment she's too little faith in herself. And she's too tense.

Eisler: But she's a trifle. At the moment she's too little faith in herself. And she's too tense.

Fry: Probably a light entertainer. Supposed to be sexy, but she's not really sexy at all.

Trim: Or she has to seem fresh and naive, and then gets depressed when it doesn't come off.

Manen: She could easily break down in tears.

Gimson: She's done a bit of speech training. Not much. But she's a girl who wants to make her way.

Fry: And she's got guts.

Dissection

Yes, Sabrina has guts. She knew, like the rest, she might be in for a pretty brutal dissection but, like the rest, she hasn't many pretensions.

One of the team said, before knowing who she was: "She has less than her fair share of human swank." True. All she said when I recorded her was: "I hope they don't think I'm Lancashire. I'm Cheshire, born in Stockport."

She need not have worried. The team all thought she was a Southerner.

Then came the team's one real failure. The criminal. But their failure was significant. For it revealed, as I will tell you tomorrow, why he had been until fairly recently such a successful criminal.

ESCAPER-EXTRAORDINARY - - - by GILES

"How am I to know you aren't this Alfred Hinds disguised as Bert Higgins, our local copper?"

IT'S TOO EASY TO GET OUT OF GAOL

—says a man who has done it—

Is it too easy to escape from prison? A man who should know says "Yes."

He is Tony Radley, self-confessed thief of the £230,000 Oppenheimer jewels in South Africa three years ago. He has been in prison 10 times—in South Africa, America, and England—since 1933. He says: "It is easiest to escape in England."

"I doubt if there is a prison in England which could be certain to hold such people as Alfred Hinds and Scarface Parsons once they made up their minds to break out."

Hinds' break-out from Chelmsford was his third escape from custody.

Radley says: "The country prisons are not good enough to hold a really determined man, and Wormwood Scrubs is probably the easiest of the larger prisons to escape from."

The Keys

Radley released from Wandsworth recently, said: "I had a nine-month sentence. I had not been in there for 10 years and I was amazed how easy things had become."

Now make keys to open most doors.

"The extra beds in the three-to-a-cell overcrowded gaols have thick wire mesh under the hair mattresses. This wire is ideal for making keys which will open heavy locks as swiftly as an ordinary key."

"Prisoners visit each other in their cells at night to pass messages and tobacco."

"And reading this, prison wardens will now know how some of their own tobacco, cigarettes, and miscellaneous articles have disappeared from their cloakrooms."

Discipline

Where are the keys hidden? Easy. Just hook them back on to the wire mesh.

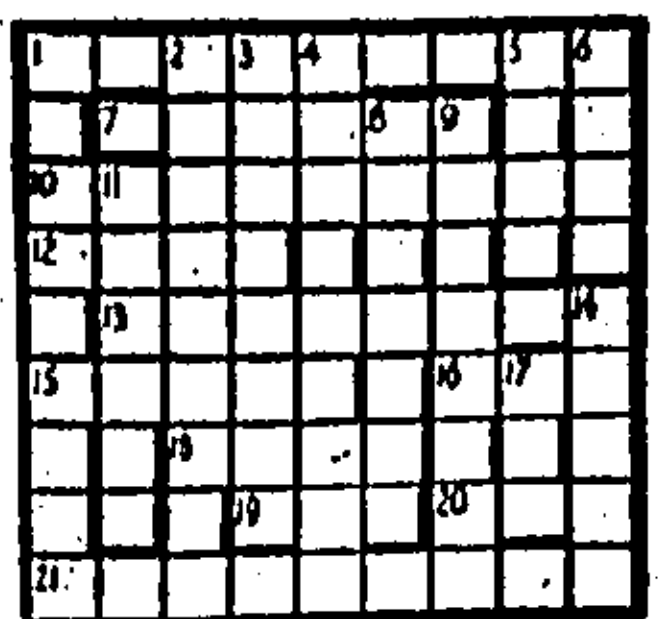

He adds: "Although wardens wear slippers at night they can be heard padding about. With such a key, and keeping your eyes and ears open, it is easy to walk about inside the prison. Many prisoners did."

"The key also unlocks the doors leading out of the main building."

Why is it so easy to escape from some of our prisons? Says Radley: "Because the general discipline is not strong."

—ROBERT MOORE

CROSSWORD

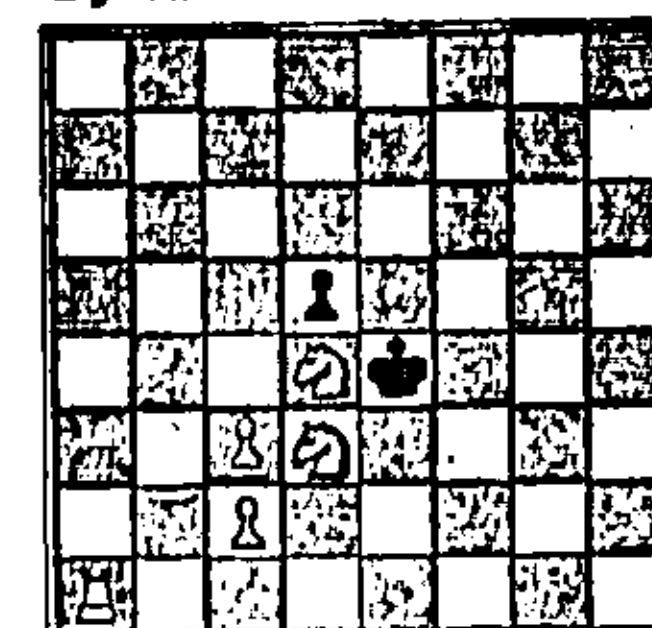

Across
1. Item for emergency. (5, 6)
2. Learning. (4)
3. Domestic work. (5)
4. University. (10, 11)
5. Early adventure. (6)
6. Otherwise. (5)
7. The odd run. (3)
8. Fever. (4)
9. Mistake. (3)
10. Noddy. (5)
11. Noddy. (5)
12. Not today. (3)
Down
1. Learned. (9)
2. Heraldic work. (9)
3. Employ again. (6)
4. Excuse. (6)
5. Rough craft. (6)
6. Gallery. (4)
7. Imbiber. (7)
8. Dance. (9)
9. One kind of. (7)
10. Field. (3)
11. Frivolous. (6)
12. Not me. (3)

Saturday's Solution

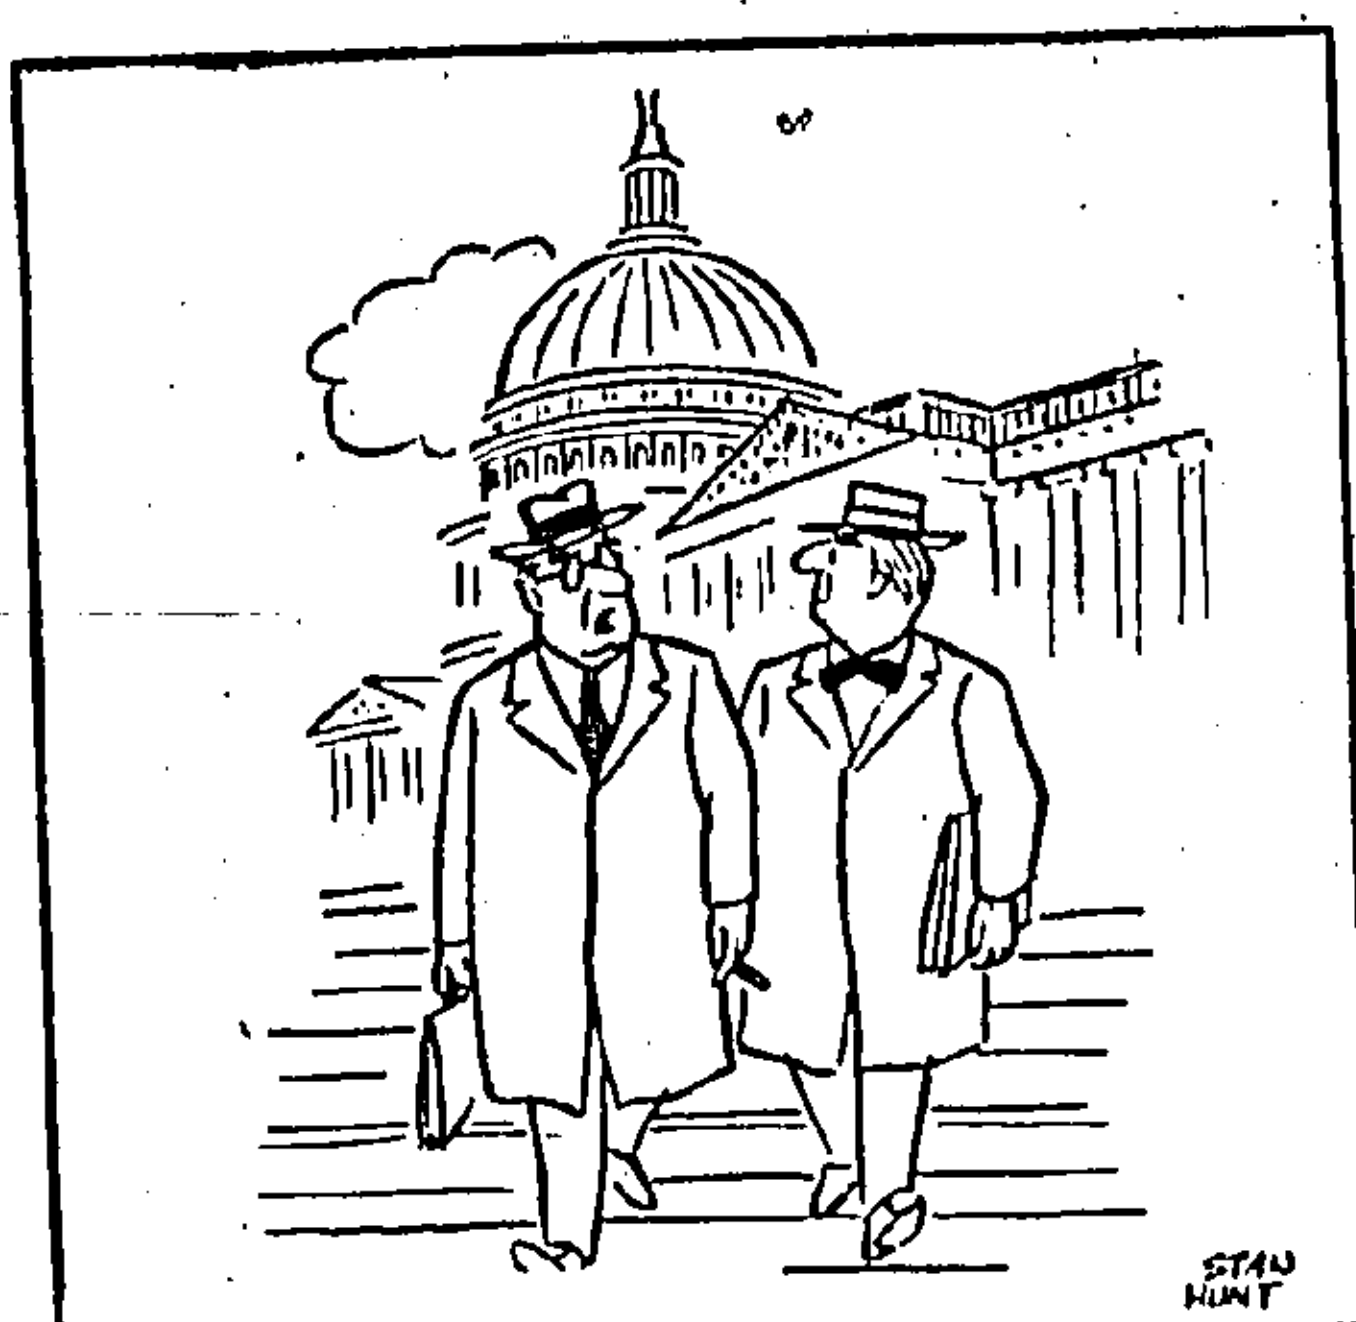

CHESS

By LEONARD BARDEN

Here is a special April Fool's Day problem. By C. J. B. Purdy (Sydney Telegraph, 1934). The diagram is correctly printed, and the puzzle is: What is the smallest number of moves in which White can mate?
Solution No. 5413: 1. R-B3! and if 2. R x R, Q-Q4 mate, or 2. Q x R, Q-B6 ch; 3. K-K1, Q-K17 mate.
London Express Service

This Funny World

"Frankly, I didn't realise what a good idea it was myself until Russia didn't like it."

YOUR BIRTHDAY ... By STELLA

MONDAY, JUNE 9

BORN today, you have a precise and exact mind. You can lose all detail work with the greatest of ease. Yet, in handling a big venture, you are equally competent. Reliable and steady, you are a person to whom others come in a crisis. You have a good head for business and are never found on the wrong side of any deal. Shrewd and clever, you follow the rules to the letter, but you are quick to grab an opportunity, but will never take undue advantage of anyone else to get it. You always walk the fine line of good business ethics. Perhaps your only weakness is that you are partial to your own kin. In your eyes, members of your own family can do no wrong and will fight anyone who even intimates differently. This loyalty is a fine thing. But face it! It is only human to make a mistake and it is just possible that someone close to you could do it! It is no

TUESDAY, JUNE 10
GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—Select important objectives and then forge ahead toward a real and permanent success. The first of the two good does.
CANCER (June 22-July 23)—A business trip may have a beneficial impact on some financial arrangement profitable to your future progress.
LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—You may take a calculated risk today and you will receive a better average result. The stars are in your favour.
VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—Have your ideas in shape to present to someone who may be in a position to further a major objective.
LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—Combine social and business success for a venture into good profits. You can make good money now.
SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 23)—Do not let the old methods at the office and you will discover they pay extra dividends!

FOUR MONTHS IN A HAREM

Tilbury June 8. Scots-born Mrs Rita Nasir came home to Britain today claiming she was held in the harem of the King of Yemen for four months.

The 25-year-old Glasgow-born mother of six said she and her Arab husband had escaped to Aden with their family after bribing a car driver.

"I lived with the king's two wives and about 200 concubines," she said. "I was not ill-treated at all."

"The king did not treat me as a concubine, but just used to talk to me."

CLOTHES, FOOD

Mrs Nasir said the family went to the Yemen from Glasgow five months ago after Mr Nasir obtained a job there.

They had been there only a fortnight when the king sent her to take her and her five young daughters to his palace. "I was taken to the king and he asked me about the children and how I liked the country," she said.

"He said I was to stay in the palace." There, she said, "We each had separate rooms. I had plenty of clothes and food and the king sometimes gave me money." But now, "all I want to do is to settle down as an ordinary housewife."—China Mail Special.

JUNE BRIDES

Further attractions including a Spanish-style gown comprising 30 yards of heavy lace, satin and tulle given by Messrs. Mohans, and designed by Mrs. Shelley, for which donation tickets will be sold at $2 each; and a gown for a Hongkong bride designed and made by Zephora Couture from material by Sincere's, will appear in the Bridal Show, "June Brides the World Over." Tickets for the two shows, 3.15 and 5.15 p.m. on June 25 at the Gloucester Hotel, are on sale today in the Gloucester Arcade. The charity to benefit is the YWCA rooftop clubs and nurseries, sponsored by members of the English-speaking members department.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Heart Nine Is Important

By OSWALD JACOBY

GORDON KEEL of Vancouver writes: "Here is a hand that may interest you. I didn't have much of an opening bid and can't blame my partner for putting me in six. The use of the Blackwood convention made me declarer at diamonds and West opened the jack of clubs."

"I won the trick in dummy and played the ace of diamonds in hopes of dropping a singleton nine. When that failed I kept as cheerful a countenance as possible and ran off dummy's trumps."

"If East had been clairvoyant he might have realised the importance of his nine of hearts."

NORTH 28		WEST 28
♠ 8 6 4		♠ 9 7
♥ A K Q J 10 7 5		♥ 10 7 3
♦ A K		♦ 10 7 3
		♣ 10 7 3
EAST 28		SOUTH (D)
♠ 9 7		♠ K J 3
♥ 10 7 3		♥ A K 8 4
♦ 10 7 3		♦ 8 4
♣ 10 7 3		♣ 8 7 5 4
No one vulnerable		South West North East
1 ♠ 4 N.T. Pass		5 ♠ Pass 6 ♠ Pass
Pass Pass		Opening lead—♠ J

and I would have been a dead duck but East discarded hearts early and often.

"This put West in an unusual position. I wound up by cashing dummy's other high club and retained three hearts and the king of spades. West had to blank his ace of spades in order to hold three hearts. Now I took dummy's queen of hearts and threw West in with the ace of spades. He had to lead to me and the slam made."

The hand is most interesting. To start with, North can't make the slam or even five odd since a spade will be opened against him. A heart lead would have beaten Mr Keel but no one could blame West for his club opening. As for East's heart discards, I am inclined to be a trifle more severe than Mr Keel. He had a round of the hand and was always growing in different directions. But everyone liked him very much, especially Knarr and Hand, the Shadows with the

CARD SENSE

Q—The bidding has been:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass
3 ♠ Pass 3 ♠ Pass
You, South, hold:
♠ 2 ♠ A K 6 5 3 2 ♠ A K Q J
What do you do?
A—Did five clubs. You want your partner to bid the slam if he can take the second diamond lead.

TODAY'S QUESTION
The bidding has been:
North East South West
1 ♠ Pass 2 ♠ Pass
2 ♠ Pass 3 ♠ Pass
You, South, hold:
♠ K 8 7 ♠ Q 8 5 3 ♠ A A J 7 6
What do you do?
Answer Tomorrow

Rupert and the Jackdaw—6

The young bear on his rounds leaving the little gate in a group. Bill's anxiety has now spread to all the others. "Well, it's no good one standing and worrying," says Rupert. "We can't go right down there now. Even if it didn't snow again it would be dark before we could get back. Let's all get permission at home and meet here earlier tomorrow. At noon after breakfast as we can. Then we can all go over to the new cottages together." The others agree. They go their separate ways and Rupert scampers to his own cottage.

Luxury Lounger

By VERA WINSTON

HERE WE have a real luxury lounge and a nice costume for home entertaining. It consists of an all-in-one black silk pants and top, the latter with detachable, thin shoulder straps. Over the top goes a white lace jacket with rhinestone button closing. It is also pretty in green with white lace jacket.

Household Hints

To mend a large hole in fine underclothes, try tacking a piece of fine net under the hole and then darning through across it. When finished strip off the net thread by thread and you will have a perfectly even and neat darn.

Tomato slices dipped in seasoned flour will keep whole while frying.

When you have shampooed your hair there is often a little of the shampoo left unused. Save this in an old jar and the next time your hairbrushes and comb need cleaning use this to wash them. It will bring out all the grease and at the same time is economical.

WOMANSENSE

FABULOUS

That's the only word for these jewel boxes

by EILEEN ASCROFT

JEWELLERY to most of us means a wristwatch and perhaps a wedding and engagement ring. The rest of the contents of our jewel cases are made up of an assortment of beads and inexpensive ear-rings.

But there are still many women who possess fabulous jewel boxes.

One of the largest and finest jewel collections, of course, belongs to the Queen. Her room, presented by Queen Mary at the time of the Queen's marriage and willed to her are almost impossible to value.

BIG DIAMONDS

Although the Duchess of Sutherland lost thousands of pounds worth of jewellery in a recent robbery she still has a wonderful collection of heirlooms. Among them is the necklace of diamonds the size of shilling pieces that once belonged to Marie Antoinette.

Unlike many women, who have skillful imitations made of their jewellery for everyday wear, the Duchess of Sutherland prefers sets of semi-precious stones designed to tone with her wardrobe. The best ruby collections belong to the Duchess of Devonshire and Viscountess Alford. The Duchess of Devonshire possesses some of the best and rarest black opals in the world, some of them reputed to be 100 carats.

PRICELESS

Owner of some of the loveliest emeralds is Countess Roosa. She has a priceless suite of dark, neckties and scarves. Another woman who favours the true green emerald is the Duchess of Buccleuch.

Gwen, Lady Melchett, owns perfect diamonds. Last time she took them from the bank to wear at a State opening of Parliament she had to pay

SALLY PICKS A PARTY DRESS

LONDON'S newest model girl, one of the prettiest, too, is six-year-old Sally Mitchell.

Discovered by photographer John Antill, she's all set to fit a modelling career into her busy schoolgirl life. For her first assignment she picked out some of the little-girl styles she'd like to wear herself this summer.

A confirmed "dresser-up," she fell happily into the guiding hand of Mama.

model-girl routine and de-scribed the day before the new look. She wanted a "jolly good fun" for her first modelling fee straight into her piggy bank, to be used for future ballet lessons.

It was interesting to see what a small girl would pick to wear herself, without the gilding hand of Mama.

Colours featured the peacock and heather shades and fabrics were shaggy and silky, with lots of mohair.

DIFFICULT to wear are the loose, short spangled cocktail sheaths, reminiscent of the 1920's.

EASIER and more flattering are the sheer dresses floating loose over slim-fitting sheath foundations.

OUT OF LINE

It pays just once in a while to put a foot wrong. The wife who is too perfect can become a bit of a bore.

Men may welcome a daily diet of punchy, smiling mood temper, no demands for money and a make-do-and-mend wardrobe. But it does not do them any harm to shake them up just once in a while by stepping out of line.

I have proved it! I got home late and missed an important date. And was so confident it took forget-me-nots. "Joy" perfume and a gold bangle to cheer me up.

But I repeat, it is only something to try just once in a blue moon.

SHOP WINDOW

Practical discovery this week is a new window cleaner in a metal spray. It's perfumed, dust-repellent and quick to use. You just spray it over the pane and wipe them with a cloth. (2s. 11d.)

Golden Girls who don't want to acquire a deep tan should use a sun filter cream for sunny days ahead. It's non-greasy, and gives that attractive honey-gold appearance. Good, too, for a child's sensitive skin, or for protecting the old man's bald head! (8s. 6d.)

(London Express Service).

BOYS' AND GIRLS' MAGAZINE

Baron's Hunting Story

—The Animals He Caught Were All Very Strange—

By MAX TRELL

AT No. 6 Book Boulevard, lived Baron Munch. He had a round, friendly face and a very pretty furniture inside the house.

Baron Munch, himself, wasn't very pretty. He had a round nose and his hair was always growing in different directions. But everyone liked him very much, especially Knarr and Hand, the Shadows with the turned-about names. For there was no one in the whole world who could tell the stories of his adventures like Baron Munch.

Weekly Visit
"Of course," Hand was saying to his brother Knarr, as they both hurried along Boulevard toward No. 6 for their weekly visit to their old friend, "I don't really believe a single word he says. Do you, Knarr?"

"I believe everything Baron Munch tells me," said Knarr. Just then, they reached No. 6. They rang the bell. A few minutes later, they were sitting in Baron Munch's big hunting room.

It was a curious room. All along the walls were heads of various animals which Baron Munch claimed he had hunted.

Extraordinary Hunter
"I think," Baron Munch said modestly, as he tried to flicker some of his muscled-up half with a large comb, "that I am probably the greatest, bravest, hardest and most extraordinary hunter in the world."

"Oh no, dear," said Hand. "General Tin is all those things!"

Baron Munch frowned. "I don't like to boast," he said, "but has General Tin ever hunted and captured an animal like that?"

As he said this, Baron Munch pointed to an animal head on the wall. It looked like a lion except that it had a long trunk and big ears like an elephant.

"What kind of an animal is that?" asked Knarr.

"That animal, my boy," said Baron Munch, "is a Big-Eared Elephant-O-Lion. It's the only one of its kind in the world."

"I'm quite sure," Baron Munch went on, as he looked sharply at Hand, "that our friend General Tin has never in his whole life captured an animal like that! I doubt if he's even ever seen one!"

Strange Creature
Baron Munch now walked over to another strange-looking creature, stuck on the opposite wall of the room.

"That animal," he said, "is a Big-Eared Elephant-O-Lion. It's the only one of its kind in the world."

"I'm quite sure," Baron Munch went on, as he looked sharply at Hand, "that our friend General Tin has never in his whole life captured an animal like that! I doubt if he's even ever seen one!"

Baron Munch now walked over to another strange-looking creature, stuck on the opposite wall of the room.

"That animal," he said, "is a Big-Eared Elephant-O-Lion. It's the only one of its kind in the world."

"I'm quite sure," Baron Munch went on, as he looked sharply at Hand, "that our friend General Tin has never in his whole life captured an animal like that! I doubt if he's even ever seen one!"

Baron Munch now walked over to another strange-looking creature, stuck on the opposite wall of the room.

"That animal," he said, "is a Big-Eared Elephant-O-Lion. It's the only one of its kind in the world."

"I'm quite sure," Baron Munch went on, as he looked sharply at Hand, "that our friend General Tin has never in his whole life captured an animal like that! I doubt if he's even ever seen one!"

Baron Munch now walked over to another strange-looking creature, stuck on the opposite wall of the room.

"That animal," he said, "is a Big-Eared Elephant-O-Lion. It's the only one of its kind in the world."

"I'm quite sure," Baron Munch went on, as he looked sharply at Hand, "that our friend General Tin has never in his whole life captured an animal like that! I doubt if he's even ever seen one!"

Baron Munch now walked over to another strange-looking creature, stuck on the opposite wall of the room.

"That animal," he said, "is a Big-Eared Elephant-O-Lion. It's the only one of its kind in the world."

"I'm quite sure," Baron Munch went on, as he looked sharply at Hand, "that our friend General Tin has never in his whole life captured an animal like that! I doubt if he's even ever seen one!"

SALLY PICKS A PARTY DRESS

LONDON'S newest model girl, one of the prettiest, too, is six-year-old Sally Mitchell.

Discovered by photographer John Antill, she's all set to fit a modelling career into her busy schoolgirl life. For her first assignment she picked out some of the little-girl styles she'd like to wear herself this summer.

A confirmed "dresser-up," she fell happily into the guiding hand of Mama.

Colours featured the peacock and heather shades and fabrics were shaggy and silky, with lots of mohair.

DIFFICULT to wear are the loose, short spangled cocktail sheaths, reminiscent of the 1920's.

EASIER and more flattering are the sheer dresses floating loose over slim-fitting sheath foundations.

OUT OF LINE

It pays just once in a while to put a foot wrong. The wife who is too perfect can become a bit of a bore.

Men may welcome a daily diet of punchy, smiling mood temper, no demands for money and a make-do-and-mend wardrobe. But it does not do them any harm to shake them up just once in a while by stepping out of line.

I have proved it! I got home late and missed an important date. And was so confident it took forget-me-nots. "Joy" perfume and a gold bangle to cheer me up.

But I repeat, it is only something to try just once in a blue moon.

SHOP WINDOW

Practical discovery this week is a new window cleaner in a metal spray. It's perfumed, dust-repellent and quick to use. You just spray it over the pane and wipe them with a cloth. (2s. 11d.)

Golden Girls who don't want to acquire a deep tan should use a sun filter cream for sunny days ahead. It's non-greasy, and gives that attractive honey-gold appearance. Good, too, for a child's sensitive skin, or for protecting the old man's bald head! (8s. 6d.)

(London Express Service).

Colours featured the peacock and heather shades and fabrics were shaggy and silky, with lots of mohair.

DIFFICULT to wear are the loose, short spangled cocktail sheaths, reminiscent of the 1920's.

EASIER and more flattering are the sheer dresses floating loose over slim-fitting sheath foundations.

OUT OF LINE

It pays just once in a while to put a foot wrong. The wife who is too perfect can become a bit of a bore.

Men may welcome a daily diet of punchy, smiling mood temper, no demands for money and a make-do-and-mend wardrobe. But it does not do them any harm to shake them up just once in a while by stepping out of line.

I have proved it! I got home late and missed an important date. And was so confident it took forget-me-nots. "Joy" perfume and a gold bangle to cheer me up.

But I repeat, it is only something to try just once in a blue moon.

SHOP WINDOW

Practical discovery this week is a new window cleaner in a metal spray. It's perfumed, dust-repellent and quick to use. You just spray it over the pane and wipe them with a cloth. (2s. 11d.)

Golden Girls who don't want to acquire a deep tan should use a sun filter cream for sunny days ahead. It's non-greasy, and gives that attractive honey-gold appearance. Good, too, for a child's sensitive skin, or for protecting the old man's bald head! (8s. 6d.)

(London Express Service).

Colours featured the peacock and heather shades and fabrics were shaggy and silky, with lots of mohair.

DIFFICULT to wear are the loose, short spangled cocktail sheaths, reminiscent of the 1920's.

EASIER and more flattering are the sheer dresses floating loose over slim-fitting sheath foundations.

OUT OF LINE

It pays just once in a while to put a foot wrong. The wife who is too perfect can become a bit of a bore.

Men may welcome a daily diet of punchy, smiling mood temper, no demands for money and a make-do-and-mend wardrobe. But it does not do them any harm to shake them up just once in a while by stepping out of line.

I have proved it! I got home late and missed an important date. And was so confident it took forget-me-nots. "Joy" perfume and a gold bangle to cheer me up.

But I repeat, it is only something to try just once in a blue moon.

SHOP WINDOW

Practical discovery this week is a new window cleaner in a metal spray. It's perfumed, dust-repellent and quick to use. You just spray it over the pane and wipe them with a cloth. (2s. 11d.)

Golden Girls who don't want to acquire a deep tan should use a sun filter cream for sunny days ahead. It's non-greasy, and gives that attractive honey-gold appearance. Good, too, for a child's sensitive skin, or for protecting the old man's bald head! (8s. 6d.)

(London Express Service).

Colours featured the peacock and heather shades and fabrics were shaggy and silky, with lots of mohair.

DIFFICULT to wear are the loose, short spangled cocktail sheaths, reminiscent of the 1920's.

EASIER and more flattering are the sheer dresses floating loose over slim-fitting sheath foundations.

OUT OF LINE

It pays just once in a while to put a foot wrong. The wife who is too perfect can become a bit of a bore.

Men may welcome a daily diet of punchy, smiling mood temper, no demands for money and a make-do-and-mend wardrobe. But it does not do them any harm to shake them up just once in a while by stepping out of line.

I have proved it! I got home late and missed an important date. And was so confident it took forget-me-nots. "Joy" perfume and a gold bangle to cheer me up.

But I repeat, it is only something to try just once in a blue moon.

SHOP WINDOW

Practical discovery this week is a new window cleaner in a metal spray. It's perfumed, dust-repellent and quick to use. You just spray it over the pane and wipe them with a cloth. (2s. 11d.)

Golden Girls who don't want to acquire a deep tan should use a sun filter cream for sunny days ahead. It's non-greasy, and gives that attractive honey-gold appearance. Good, too, for a child's sensitive skin, or for protecting the old man's bald head! (8s. 6d.)

(London Express Service).

Jack 'n Gill

OUR'S ALONE

SWIMWEAR

Colourful "swimwear" that adds a sparkling touch of colour and style to beachwear for the new season.

Fabulous new line for tots thru sub-te

Blackpool 3, All-Hongkong 1

A MAGNIFICENT MIDDLE LINE

The Magic Of Matthews And The Power Of Charnley Are Too Much For Hongkong

Says I. M. MACTAVISH

FENTON... GRATRIX... and KELLY. In those three names lies the main story of why Blackpool beat All-Hongkong by three goals to one before a rain-soaked capacity crowd at the Hongkong Stadium last night.

This magnificent half-back line tackled with such tenacity and accuracy that Hongkong's much-vaunted ball-playing inside-forwards were never allowed to get the ball under control and they were never permitted an inch of room to set their familiar pattern weaving attacks in motion.

Roy Gratrix was superb. His speed into the tackle and his astonishing powers of recovery made Ho Cheung-yau's life a soccer misery, while Yiu Cheuk-yin did not make one single positive contribution to the proceedings in the whole ninety minutes so efficiently was he snuffed out by Fenton.

Kelly was the artful artist of the side but the bite in his challenge for the ball was no less telling than that of his mates and his ball distribution was a delight to watch.

That is the real story of the game. The Colony forward line, which so much was expected to be blotted out by three super craftsmen who did everything so much faster and so much stronger than the men they were up against.

Now let me switch right to the other end of the field and enable. Instead he tried to walk the ball into the net and time after time he was caught in possession and beaten. Occasionally he looked a bit annoyed when the referee did not give decisions in his favour after he had been dispossessed.

Personally I thought he brought most of the troubles on himself by his unwillingness to shoot or pass with the ball to a better-placed colleague, and his service to Matthews was indifferent.

Stanley and Wright made up a very makeshift left-wing and while there was fair excuse for the ill-in wing who was playing right out of position there was little until for Stanley who wasted several excellent chances.

Charnley showed an unusual turn of speed and surprising ball-control for such a big man and his three goals were due reward for some very attractive football.

What is there to say about a Hongkong side in which the biggest failures were the very men from whom most was expected? For this the team managers must accept some of the blame for even when it was painfully obvious that Yiu Cheuk-yin and Ho Cheung-yau were being driven right out of the picture by the powerful Blackpool middle line no effort was made to exploit the stronger and more direct methods of Lo Kwok-tai in one of the inside positions. He was wasted on the wing.

Worked Like Trojans

Chan Fai-hung had a very ordinary game in the left half position but Mendum and Lau Yee worked like trojans to keep the Blackpool forward line at bay. Szeto Yiu had a very easy time against Wright and Kwok Kam-hung's tribulations have already been mentioned.

McNicol, who deputised for Wai Fat-ke in the Hongkong goal, did very well and had little or no chances with the goals that beat him.

In spite of yesterday's torrential rain the pitch at the Hongkong Stadium was a credit to the ground staff and the Blackpool party were delighted with the playing conditions.

There was a big cheer for each team as they paraded round the ground to be presented to the Hon. Mr. The Hon. Mr. General Sir Edric Bastyan, who appeared to have a special word of welcome for Stanley Matthews.

Easy Prey

The Hongkong forwards were easy prey to the offside tactics of the Blackpool defenders and they were caught in embarrassing isolation behind a line of defenders on several occasions.

The first thrill was a snap shot by Hagan which clipped the Hongkong post but the opening goal was a typical touch of Matthews. The winger cut his way through, slipped the ball to Hagan, who dropped it neatly in Charnley's path for the centre-forward to push it into the net.

The goal came after 50 minutes and Ho Cheung-yau had a chance to equalise a little later but his ill-directed shot was snuffed out and cleared by big George Farm.

With the interval approaching the Colony launched a strong attack on the right. The roar of the fans rose to a crashing crescendo as Ho Cheung-yau drove Wong Chi-keung's accurate centre into the net.

Delight turned to dismay almost immediately as Blackpool struck back and Charnley pivoted on a Matthews pass to put his side ahead again.

Matthews was now on an unorthodox wandering position in search of the ball and during long periods in the second half he worked his magic from the inside-forward positions with inch-perfect passes to right and left.

Woodwork To Rescue

The woodwork came to Hongkong's rescue twice more but in the closing minutes Matthews—now back on the right wing—brought a scorching left-foot shot for the far post. McNicol did well to push it out but in the ensuing mêlée the ball hit Szeto Yiu's back and Charnley carried it into the net to finish the scoring.

KELLY... Artful artist of an artistic trio.

VERDICT. The game was a great spectacle and if the football was a little disappointing at times we can maybe put it down to the heat. The Colony was not disgraced but on the other hand some of our players missed a rare opportunity to show their real ability.

The strong but absolutely fair tackling of the Hongkong defenders was something of a revelation to the Hongkong forwards and they never suggested that they knew how to deal with it. Holding onto the ball as they did they played right into Blackpool's hands.

The visitors should have scored more goals and their pitchwork forward line was very lopsided.

Matthews is still magnificent... what a thrill it was to see him in action again.

Finally congratulations to both sides on a fine sporting show. The visitors were satisfied with the match control of Referee Mak Young-tai and his linesmen.

And now to Tuesday's game and the chance to see if the Hongkong players have learned from their first encounter with the determined workmanlike tactics of a British professional side.

The Teams

Hongkong: McNicol, Szeto Yiu, Kwok Kam-hung, Mendum, Lau Yee, Chan Fai-hung, Wong Chi-keung, Lau Chi-lam, Ho Cheung-yau, Yiu Cheuk-yin, Lo Kwok-tai.

Blackpool: Farm, Armfield, Martin, Repton, Gratrix, Kelly, Charnley, Hagan, Stanley, Blakely.

HE FLIES THROUGH THE AIR... Hongkong goalkeeper McNicol did very well in yesterday's match, deputising for Wai Fat-ke and had very little chance of stopping the shots that beat him.

Denmark Beaten 6-3 By Indonesia In Thomas Cup Semi-Final

IT'S THE HEAT SAYS DANISH MANAGER

Singapore, June 8.

Indonesia beat Denmark by six matches to three in an inter-zone semi-final of the Thomas Cup Badminton World Championship series. Indonesia will now play Thailand for the right to meet the cup-holders, Malaysia.

Yesterday, Denmark lost three matches and won one in its tournament with Indonesia. Tonight, in the first match, Danish star Finn Kobberø, rated by some authorities as the best badminton player in the world, went under to Indonesia's schoolboy National Champion, Tan Joe-hock, 5-1, 12-15, 10-15.

The mercurial Dane played a dazzling game in the first set, but Tan in the second and third found the strategy to beat him. Tan confined himself to returning everything—no Dane threw at him, and eventually the long rallies forced the impatient Kobberø into trying for winning strokes, and faulting.

Tan allowed the Dane to beat himself.

The second singles of the night, between Denmark's Palle Grunlund and Indonesia's Eddy Yusep, was the duller of the series so far.

The two plodded on for point after point in mediocre play before a silent crowd. The big Dane eventually won 15-8, 15-9.

This left the score for the series at 4-2, and Denmark had to win all the remaining games

The next match was the decider, and both the Indonesian captain, Ferry Sonneville, and the Danish All-England champion, Erlend Kops, knew it.

Sonneville the veteran, one of the most artistic badminton players in the world, played the better game, and although Kops fought magnificently, he was beaten in straight sets to give Indonesia the set, the game, and in entry to the Cup semi-final.

The remaining two doubles were shared by Indonesia and Denmark.

After the tournament, Ferry Sonneville told Indonesia in a special radio message: "Our players have done splendidly and well to beat Denmark."

Beaten By Heat

The Danish Manager, Borge Frederiksen, said his team had been beaten by the heat.

Also, he said, he was disappointed with the umpiring, and with the line-men.

He said he had seen some "girling errors" in the Kops-Sonneville match, he said, "Sonneville was faulting all along, but he was only penalised twice."

Erlend Kops, who experts generally conceded left his best form in Europe, said: "I could not get used to this terrible heat. I knew it would be warm, but I did not think it would be so intense."

The Results

SINGLES
Tan Joe-hock (Indonesia) beat Finn Kobberø, 1-10, 15-12, 15-10.

Eddie Yusuf (Indonesia) lost to Paul Grunlund 8-15, 9-16.
Ferry Sonneville (Indonesia) beat Erlend Kops, 15-12, 15-9.

DOUBLES
Tan Joe-hock and Lio Po-dilan (Indonesia) lost to Finn Kobberø and Hammergaard Hansen 6-15, 8-15.

Ngo Kim-bie and Tan King-gwan (Indonesia) beat Erlend Kops and Ole Mortz, 15-11, 15-10, 15-11—Reuter.

US LEAGUE BASEBALL UPSET

Cleveland Indians Crush Yankees In Doubleheader

The Cleveland Indians surprised New York's largest baseball turnout of the year today when they crushed the Yankees 14-1 and then engineered a sweep of the doubleheader with a 5-4 victory.

Ray Narleski limited the Yankees to nine hits behind an 18-hit Cleveland attack in the opener and Dick Tomaneck won his second game in the nightcap when Russ Nixon's sixth-inning homer snapped a 4-4 tie. Rocky Colavito had a homer, triple and double in the opener and also homered in the nightcap.

Johnny Kucks was routed as a starter in the first game and picked for the Indians' winning run in the second game to suffer both defeats. It was the second time this season the Yankees dropped a twin bill. The crowd was 40,903.

The Kansas City Athletics moved to within 7½ games of the League leaders when they split a doubleheader with the Baltimore Orioles, winning 2-1 after a 4-0 defeat. Duke Moss, aided by Virgil Trucks, won his third game for the Athletics after Sidney Brown and George Zaverink combined in the opener's seven-hit shutout.

Four Homers

The Boston Red Sox swept a doubleheader from the Chicago White Sox, 6-5 in 10 innings and 4-1. The Red Sox made only five hits to the White Sox's 19 in the opener but the Boston hits included four homers—two by Jackie Jensen and one each by Don Buddin and Dick Gernert. Dave Sisler pitched a six-hitter for his fifth win in the second game.

Dick Hyde preserved Pedro Ramon fourth win with ninth-inning relief as the Washington Senators offset three homers to beat the Detroit Tigers, 4-3. Jim Lemon homered for the Senators.

Mike Drabowsky limited the Pittsburgh Pirates to one hit—an infield single by ponderous Ted Kluszewski—today to pitch the Chicago Cubs to a 4-0 victory that moved them to within one game of the 500 mark.

The 22-year-old Drabowsky missed no-hit fame when Kluszewski beat out a grounder in the second inning. Second baseman Bobby Adams went to the edge of the infield grass but was out of position to throw out Kluszewski.

Ernie Banks and Walt Moryn paced the Cub attack with homers that helped cut Ron Kille's sixth loss. The second game of the scheduled double-header was rained out.

The Los Angeles Dodgers made it three in a row over the Milwaukee Braves, 12-4. The Cincinnati Redlegs beat the San Francisco Giants, 6-3, and the Philadelphia Phillies beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 6-4, in 14 innings after losing the opener, 6-5, in 10 innings in other National League activity.—U.P.I.

The Results

AMERICAN LEAGUE
(1st Game)
Cleveland 14-1
New York 1-0
Detroit 4-3
Boston 6-5
Kansas City 2-1
Baltimore 2-1
Chicago 5-4
Philadelphia 6-3
Pittsburgh 1-0
St. Louis 6-4
Washington 4-3

(2nd Game)
Cleveland 5-4
New York 4-0
Detroit 2-1
Boston 6-5
Kansas City 2-1
Baltimore 2-1
Chicago 5-4
Philadelphia 6-3
Pittsburgh 1-0
St. Louis 6-4
Washington 4-3

(3rd Game)
Cleveland 5-4
New York 4-0
Detroit 2-1
Boston 6-5
Kansas City 2-1
Baltimore 2-1
Chicago 5-4
Philadelphia 6-3
Pittsburgh 1-0
St. Louis 6-4
Washington 4-3

(4th Game)
Cleveland 5-4
New York 4-0
Detroit 2-1
Boston 6-5
Kansas City 2-1
Baltimore 2-1
Chicago 5-4
Philadelphia 6-3
Pittsburgh 1-0
St. Louis 6-4
Washington 4-3

(5th Game)
Cleveland 5-4
New York 4-0
Detroit 2-1
Boston 6-5
Kansas City 2-1
Baltimore 2-1
Chicago 5-4
Philadelphia 6-3
Pittsburgh 1-0
St. Louis 6-4
Washington 4-3

(6th Game)
Cleveland 5-4
New York 4-0
Detroit 2-1
Boston 6-5
Kansas City 2-1
Baltimore 2-1
Chicago 5-4
Philadelphia 6-3
Pittsburgh 1-0
St. Louis 6-4
Washington 4-3

(7th Game)
Cleveland 5-4
New York 4-0
Detroit 2-1
Boston 6-5
Kansas City 2-1
Baltimore 2-1
Chicago 5-4
Philadelphia 6-3
Pittsburgh 1-0
St. Louis 6-4
Washington 4-3

(8th Game)
Cleveland 5-4
New York 4-0
Detroit 2-1
Boston 6-5
Kansas City 2-1
Baltimore 2-1
Chicago 5-4
Philadelphia 6-3
Pittsburgh 1-0
St. Louis 6-4
Washington 4-3

(9th Game)
Cleveland 5-4
New York 4-0
Detroit 2-1
Boston 6-5
Kansas City 2-1
Baltimore 2-1
Chicago 5-4
Philadelphia 6-3
Pittsburgh 1-0
St. Louis 6-4
Washington 4-3

(10th Game)
Cleveland 5-4
New York 4-0
Detroit 2-1
Boston 6-5
Kansas City 2-1
Baltimore 2-1
Chicago 5-4
Philadelphia 6-3
Pittsburgh 1-0
St. Louis 6-4
Washington 4-3

(11th Game)
Cleveland 5-4
New York 4-0
Detroit 2-1
Boston 6-5
Kansas City 2-1
Baltimore 2-1
Chicago 5-4
Philadelphia 6-3
Pittsburgh 1-0
St. Louis 6-4
Washington 4-3

(12th Game)
Cleveland 5-4
New York 4-0
Detroit 2-1
Boston 6-5
Kansas City 2-1
Baltimore 2-1
Chicago 5-4
Philadelphia 6-3
Pittsburgh 1-0
St. Louis 6-4
Washington 4-3

(13th Game)
Cleveland 5-4
New York 4-0
Detroit 2-1
Boston 6-5
Kansas City 2-1
Baltimore 2-1
Chicago 5-4
Philadelphia 6-3
Pittsburgh 1-0
St. Louis 6-4
Washington 4-3

(14th Game)
Cleveland 5-4
New York 4-0
Detroit 2-1
Boston 6-5
Kansas City 2-1
Baltimore 2-1
Chicago 5-4
Philadelphia 6-3
Pittsburgh 1-0
St. Louis 6-4
Washington 4-3

(15th Game)
Cleveland 5-4
New York 4-0
Detroit 2-1
Boston 6-5
Kansas City 2-1
Baltimore 2-1
Chicago 5-4
Philadelphia 6-3
Pittsburgh 1-0
St. Louis 6-4
Washington 4-3

(16th Game)
Cleveland 5-4
New York 4-0
Detroit 2-1
Boston 6-5
Kansas City 2-1
Baltimore 2-1
Chicago 5-4
Philadelphia 6-3
Pittsburgh 1-0
St. Louis 6-4
Washington 4-3

(17th Game)
Cleveland 5-4
New York 4-0
Detroit 2-1
Boston 6-5
Kansas City 2-1
Baltimore 2-1
Chicago 5-4
Philadelphia 6-3
Pittsburgh 1-0
St. Louis 6-4
Washington 4-3

(18th Game)
Cleveland 5-4
New York 4-0
Detroit 2-1
Boston 6-5
Kansas City 2-1
Baltimore 2-1
Chicago 5-4
Philadelphia 6-3
Pittsburgh 1-0
St. Louis 6-4
Washington 4-3

(19th Game)
Cleveland 5-4
New York 4-0
Detroit 2-1
Boston 6-5
Kansas City 2-1
Baltimore 2-1
Chicago 5-4
Philadelphia 6-3
Pittsburgh 1-0
St. Louis 6-4
Washington 4-3

(20th Game)
Cleveland 5-4
New York 4-0
Detroit 2-1
Boston 6-5
Kansas City 2-1
Baltimore 2-1
Chicago 5-4
Philadelphia 6-3
Pittsburgh 1-0
St. Louis 6-4
Washington 4-3

Bradman Junior Forsakes Cricket For Athletics

John Bradman, 18-year-old son of the great Sir Donald, took to becoming an international sportsman—but not as a cricketer.

He is doing so well in athletics that he may get a place in the Australian team for the 1960 Olympic Games in Rome.

Yet only five years ago John was sticking with cricket. For eight months he lay in bed in malarial frame.

Slowly he responded to treatment. He went swimming, started to hit a tennis ball against a wall, played billiards and then graduated to his father's game and scored a century.

Two years ago he took up running. Within a few months he broke the 100 yards record for under-17-year-olds.

Now he has won the Australian junior 120 yards hurdles title and is training for an attempt on the seniors' record.

—London Press.

THE GAMBOLS

1. THINK HIS MONOPOLY

THE GAMBOLS

2. IS HE MARRIED?

THE GAMBOLS

3. WHAT IS IT TO YOU?

THE GAMBOLS

4. WHY DO YOU INCLUDE?

Cooking Problems Solved

WITH GAS

DISAPPOINTING TIMES AT JAPANESE INTER-UNIVERSITY SWIM MEET

By LESLIE NAKASHIMA

Tokyo, June 8.
Nineteen-year-old Tsuyoshi Yamanaka clocked disappointingly slow times today in winning the 400 and 1,500-metre freestyle events as he powered Waseda University to a 36-12 victory over Keio University in their dual swimming meet at the 50-metre outdoor Meiji pool.

Yamanaka clocked 4:30.9 in the 400 metres, the first of three events in which he competed today. It was a far cry from the 4:23.0 he registered in the recent Asian Games as he shattered Australian Murray Rose's officially recognized world record of 4:27.0.

Yamanaka's time was disappointing to Japanese swimming experts who had hoped he might even challenge the still unbroken world record of 4:21.8 established this year by 15-year-old Jan Konrads of Australia.

Lack of competition plus unfavourable conditions were apparently the reason for Yamanaka's mediocre performance today. The temperature of the outdoor pool water was 26 degrees centigrade, a bit too cold in contrast to the constantly-maintained 24 degree of the new 50-metre outdoor pool water where the Asian Games swimming events were held. A driving rain also was depressive to the contestants.

Yamanaka was more than 100 metres in the lead as he clocked 10:33.4 to win the 1,500-metre events.

Yamanaka was also anchor-man for the Waseda team that won the 800 metres relay in 9:07.2. He was 25 metres in the lead over Kelo's Shozo Tanibuchi who finished in 9:25.1.

The times were slow today. Only two new meet records were set. The first came in the 200 metres butterfly when Haruo Yoshimura of Waseda clocked 2:30.7 to erase the former mark of 2:40.4 set by Osumu Yamashita of Kelo last year.

The other record came in the 200 metres breast-stroke with Masaru Ota Waseda clocking 2:47.8 to break his former mark of 2:50 set last year.—U.P.I.

WORLD CUP RESULTS

Stockholm, June 8.
Argentina, Czechoslovakia, Paraguay, Mexico and Austria lost and Yugoslavia, Scotland, Hungary, Wales, Britain and the Soviet Union drew.

In Group I, Germany beat Argentina 3-1 at Malmö and Northern Ireland beat Czechoslovakia 1-0 at Helsinki.

Group II—France beat Paraguay 2-3 at Mörköppling and Scotland and Yugoslavia drew 1-1 at Västerås.

Group III—Sweden beat Mexico 3-0 at Stockholm and Hungary and Wales drew 1-1 at Sandviken.

Group IV—The Soviet Union and Britain drew 2-2 at Göteborg and Brazil beat Austria 3-0 at Uddevalla.

Standings after today's games were:

Group I—Germany and Northern Ireland 2 points each, Argentina and Czechoslovakia zero points each.

Group II—France 2 points, Yugoslavia and Scotland one each and Paraguay zero.

Group III—Sweden two points, Hungary and Wales one each and Mexico zero.

Group IV—Brazil 2 points, Britain and the Soviet Union one each and Austria zero.—France-Press.

WORLD CUP SOCCER

Surprise In Opening Games

WEST GERMANY BEAT ARGENTINA BY 3-1

England Draw With Russia

Stockholm, June 8.

West Germany, the holders, sprang the surprise of the opening matches today in the World Soccer Cup Final series. The Germans, who have done little in international football since their triumph in Switzerland four years ago, beat the strong Argentina side by 3 goals to one.

With only four players of the 1954 Cup Team, the Germans were a goal down in the first minute but fought back strongly to lead 2-1 at half-time.

They got right on top in the second half but added only one more goal.

All sixteen finalists were in action today on grounds throughout Sweden.

Brazil, favourites for the title, gained a decisive 3-0 win over Austria, while the only other South American finalists, Paraguay, were overwhelmed 7-3 by France, who registered the biggest win of the day.

Sweden, the host nation, opened their bid by beating Mexico 3-0 to maintain their three-year unbeaten record on their own soil.

All four United Kingdom countries went undefeated. Playing the soccer might of the Communist world, England, Scotland and Wales all drew, and Northern Ireland scored a narrow victory.

The finals are being decided by pools. Each team plays the others in their pool, and the two leading sides in each pool will qualify for the quarter-finals.

The pools will be decided on a points basis and goal average will not count.

Composition of the pools is:

Group one: Argentina, West Germany, Czechoslovakia, Northern Ireland.

Group two: France, Paraguay, Yugoslavia, Scotland.

Group three: Sweden, Mexico, Hungary, Wales.

Group four: Austria, Brazil, Russia, England.

King Gustav of Sweden officially opened the final series before the match between Sweden and Mexico in the Solna Stadium here, watched by 59,000 spectators.

England v. Russia

England drew 2-2 with the Soviet Union at Gothenburg after trailing 0-1 at half-time.

In a hectic contest in which the Russians were repeatedly penalised for rough play, England equalised with only six minutes to go, from a penalty.

A record crowd of over 30,000 watched the match on a cool summer's evening.

The Russians' opening goal in the 13th minute came through their centre forward and captain Nikita Simonyan.

They went further ahead in the 55th minute through outside right Alexander Ivanov, but England reduced the deficit ten minutes later when Derek Kevan (West Bromwich Albion) nodded the ball into the net.

Bobby Robson netted five minutes later, but had the goal disallowed because of obstruction of the goalkeeper.

Then Johnny Haynes was brought down and Tom Finney, who took the penalty kick, skillfully put a ground shot into the corner of the net.

This English goal received tremendous applause from the crowd which did not appreciate the Russians' rough play.

Scotland v. Yugoslavia

Playing grand, spirited football, Scotland survived an early reverse to hold the brilliant Yugoslav side to a 1-1 draw at Avesteras.

Both were "shock" goals.

Right winger Alexander Petakovic put Yugoslavia ahead in six minutes, and Jimmy Murray, the Hearts inside forward, headed an equaliser three minutes after the interval.

It was a fast game, full of thrills with the Scottish first time tackling and grand forward work throwing the Yugoslavs out of their stride.

The Scots gave them no time or space in which to work the ball once they had settled down.

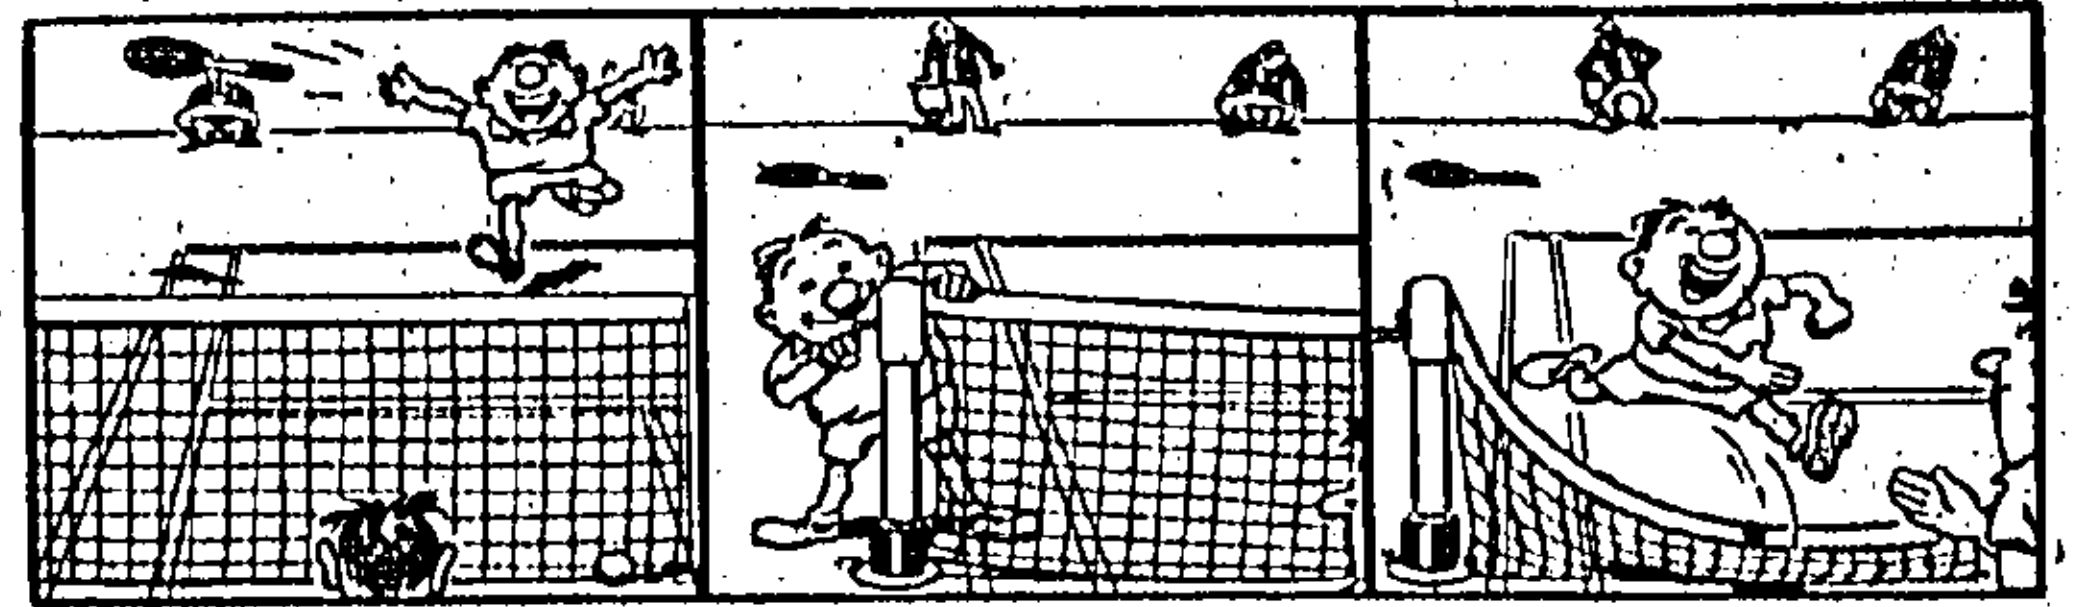

Welsh chances of reaching the quarter-finals of the tournament looked much brighter tonight when they held Hungary to a 1-1 draw at Sandviken.

A John Charles "special," a penetrating header from a corner, in the 25th minute earned Wales the draw.

Bozsk, the Hungarian right winger, scored only after four minutes.—Reuter.

SPORTING SAM

by Reg. Wootton

Week-End Lawn Bowls

LEAGUE LEADERS CONSOLIDATE TOP POSITIONS WITH CONVINCING VICTORIES

By "TOUCHER"

League leaders in all the three divisions of the Colony lawn bowls league consolidated their top positions during the week-end matches with convincing victories.

In the first division, Kowloon Cricket Club, who lost to Indian Recreation Club by 1½ to 3½ in their opening match of the season, picked up on Saturday the maximum points for the fourth week in succession.

Their victims this time were Craigengower Cricket Club "B" who played a much lower grade of bowls than they did in their last two matches when they defeated both Indian Recreation Club and Kowloon Bowling Green Club.

The greater experience and more consistent bowling of the well-balanced Kowloon Cricket Club twelve were very much in this match.

Their four of O. R. Sadick, C. I. Stapleton, F. R. Kerrin and trailing behind W. M. Seuss, M. A. Baptista, J. F. and M. Q. Wong 4-0 at the end of the sixth head, chalked up a three-on-the next end and never looked back after that to lead comfortably all the way up to the final score of 27-1.

The second KCC four of W. Baker, S. Y. Doe, A. M. Alves and J. S. Landolt also enjoyed almost the same margin of superiority over Craigengower's G. F. Santos, F. Munson, S. R. Soliman and F. G. Madar. Leading all the way, they romped home comfortably by 27-15.

Only Fight

The only fight put up by Craigengower was by L. M. Silva, A. K. Ismail, R. K. Pavri and T. A. Leonard, who held J. Tong, W. Howard, J. Chubb and T. E. Baker to a close game throughout the 21 heads. At the end of the 18th head, the Craigengower four led by 15-13, but a brilliant spell by the KCC four saw them snatch two thirds in succession to establish a winning 18-15 lead. All that the Craigengower four could do was to improve their score by a single on the remaining three heads to lose by 16-21.

With their victory on Saturday, Hong Sling's four are the only four in the first division league who can boast of having won all their matches so far. Hong Sling now heads the skips' table with five wins, 121 shots for and 79 against.

J. S. Landolt's four also maintained an unbeaten record, but are slightly behind. Hong Sling's four and the only other unbeaten four in this league—Jackie Noronha's four from Reccelo—both have four wins and one tie. Noronha's four have also the same number of wins and one tie but are slightly ahead of Landolt's four in shots for.

By The Wayside

Two other hitherto unbeaten fours fell by the wayside during the week's games. At Club de Reccelo, George Hong Chov and his men suffered their first defeat in four outings—and what a defeat. Pitted against G. A. Gutierrez, L. M. Rodriguez, E. M. Alarcón and J. E. Noronha, they held their own until the ten-interval when the score stood at 5-7.

They took a single on the first head after tea but never scored after that for the remaining ten heads. With skip Noronha playing a brilliant game and able support coming from all the three front men, the Reccelo four almost did as they pleased to end up at the head end of a 24-8 score, to pave the way for Reccelo "A's" 4-1 win over Craigengower "A".

Skip C. Rosa-Perreira netted his first win after three outings as skip with a 21-12 score over Craigengower's P. R. Tagi, A. E. Castro, A. E. Coates and G. A. Souza.

Play was quite close, until 15-12 on the 17th head, but a stronger finish by the Reccelo four enabled them to score six shots on the remaining four heads and win by 21-12. It was a worthy first victory for skip Rosa-Perreira who himself played a most conspicuous part in his four's triumph.

Craigengower's only point in the match that never produced a really high standard of bowls because of the trickiness of some parts of the green was scored by W. C. Young, R. Tay, C. C. Ma and S. Leonard.

Poor Form

The Craigengower four's victory came not so much from their own brilliant play as from the very poor form shown by all their four opponents, who seemed to be able to do nothing right. After trailing by 1-4 on the first two heads, the CCC four took the lead with a three, a four and a three and forged ahead on the next six successive heads to 19-4.

Luz's four broke the scoring streak of their opponents with a lucky single on the 12th head after their opponents had been lying three, and went on to stage a fighting finish to eventually lose by only 18-24.

At Indian Recreation Club, Talkoo were again unlucky to lose by a narrow margin of five shots on the aggregate although the final point score was 1-4 against them. Against Craigengower "A" in their last match, they lost by only one shot.

Bob Marshall's Talkoo four led almost all the way against U. A. Rumlaha's four until 19-16 at the end of the 19th head. Two twos by the Indians on the last two heads enabled them to edge out their opponents by 20-18. With this defeat goes the unbeaten record of Marshall's four who had won two matches and tied two before this game.

The Talkoo four of G. Stark, J. McArthur, G. Clayton and J. B. Baxter put up an extremely close game against J. M. A. Rumlaha, K. M. Omar, J. Hoosen and A. K. Minu up to 12-13 on the 18th head, but faltered on the last five heads. They managed to score only one single to lose by 13-20.

Hard-Earned

Talkoo's only point from this game was a hard-earned one. H. Black, J. McArthur, J. B. Fleming and C. McLennan were 1-10 behind A.R.A. Rahman,

B.M. Omar, A.R. Kitchell and A.M. Omar in a game featured by big up and down swings. They not only caught up their opponents but went on to lead by 14-13 by the 15th head, only to lose a five on the 16th head. At the end of the 18th head the score was even at 18-18. The IRC four reeled off a three but McLennan's four did better than that by chalking up a five and a single on the last two heads.

In the only other first division game, Kowloon Dock Club covered themselves with glory when they edged out Reccelo "B" by the odd shot to take four points from the match.

In the second division, Ellipano Club "B" upheld their unbeaten record when they took full points from a fighting KCC twelve to chalk up their fifth straight win of the season.

Virtual Leaders

In the third division, Craigengower Cricket Club still held the top berth in the league table with a 4½-½ win over Kowloon Bowling Green Club. Although the Valley Club twelve have 18½ points from four wins in five matches, it is the USRC twelve who are the virtual leaders in this league. The only unbeaten team in this division, they now lie second with 16 points gained from four matches.

Parasitic skin disease, itching, eczema etc.

Mitigal

OIL & OINTMENT

Bayer LEVERKUSEN GERMANY

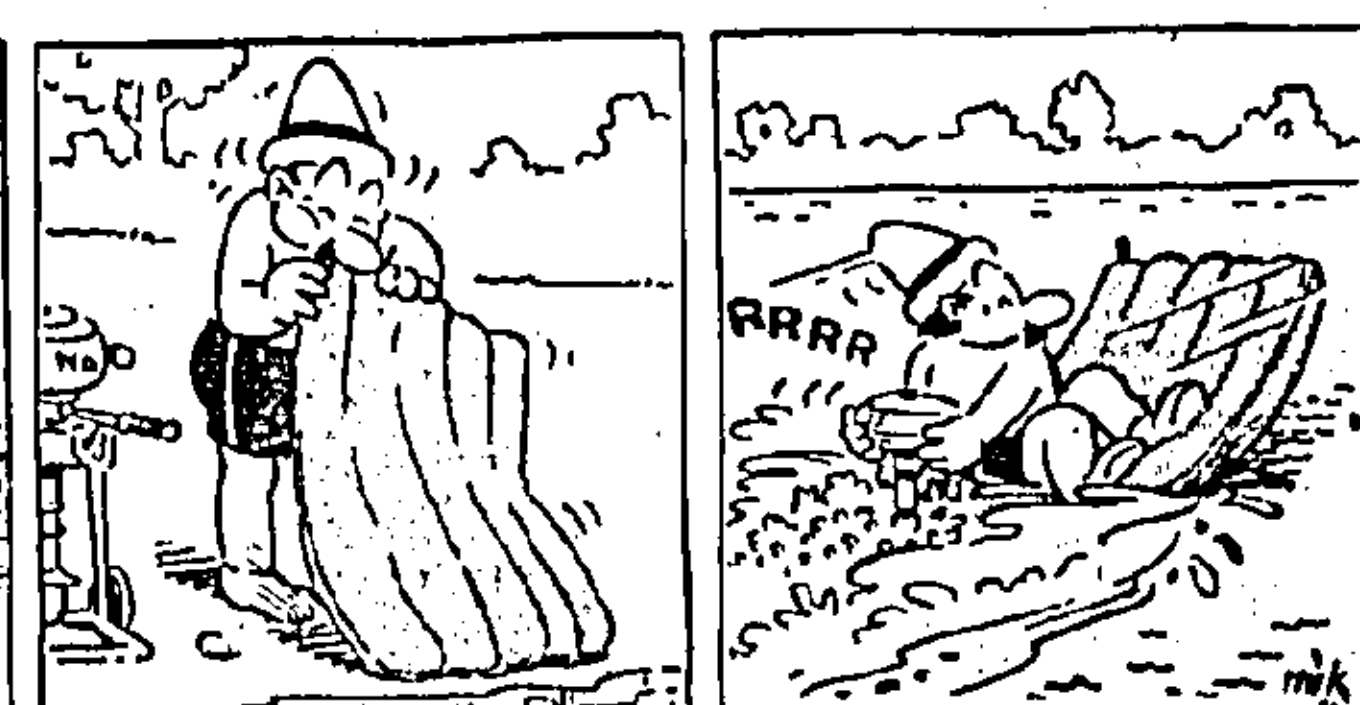

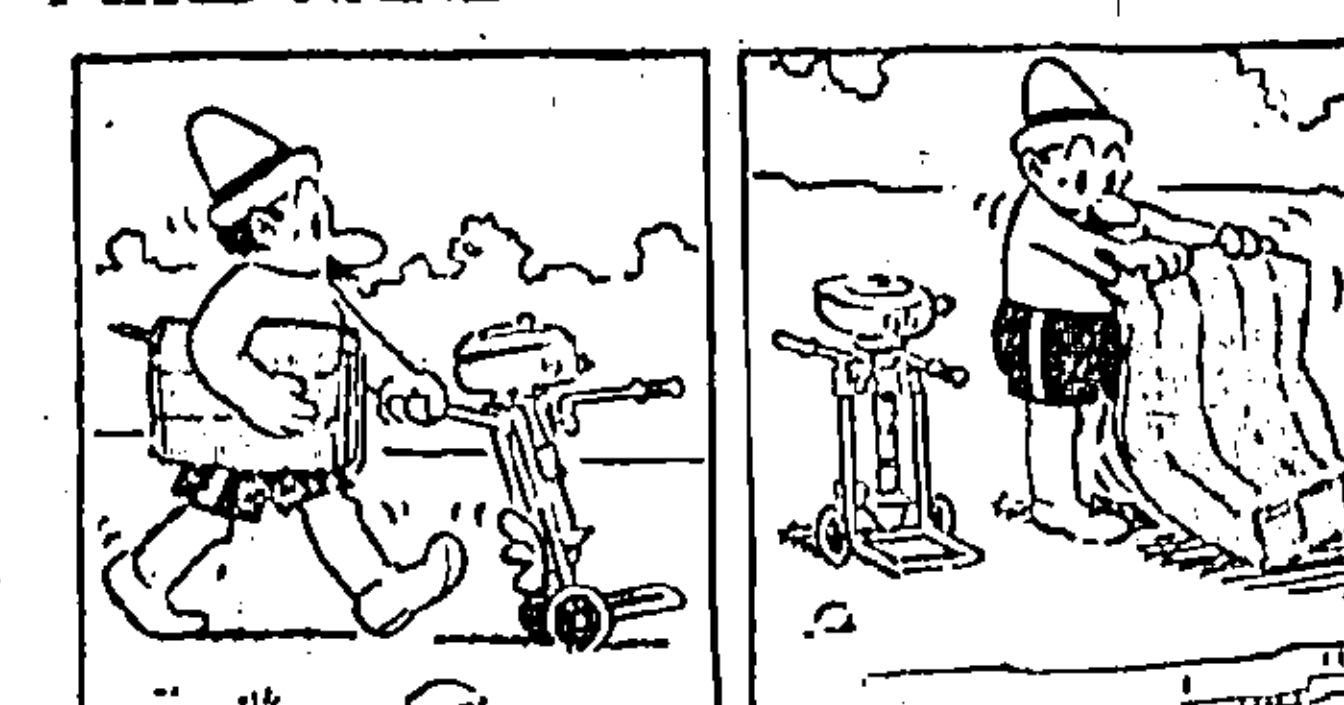

MANDRAKE THE MAGICIAN

By Lee Falk and Phil Davis

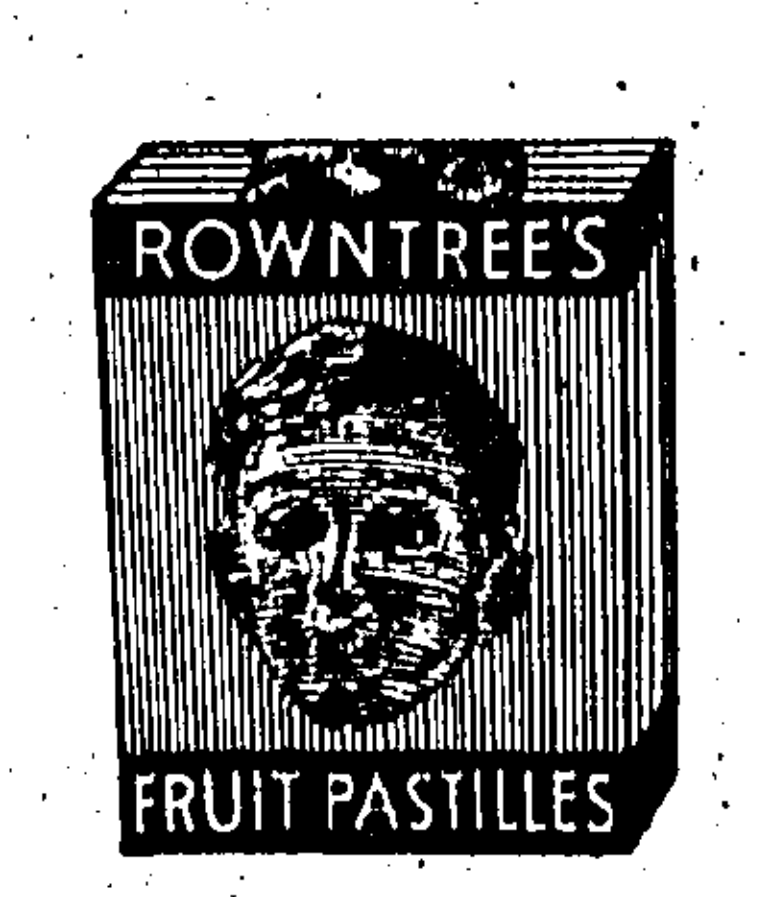

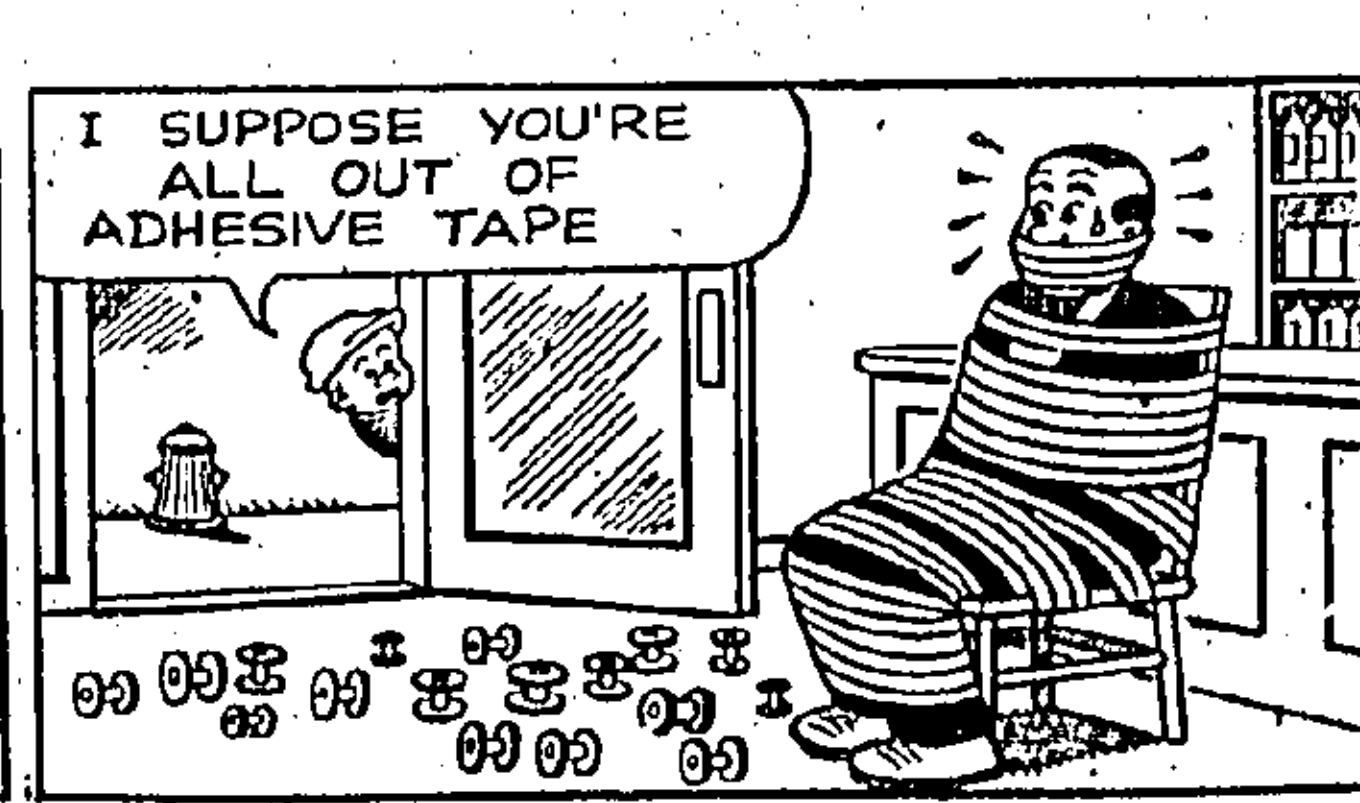

FERD'NAND

By Mik

NANCY

By Ernie Bushmiller

JOHNNY HAZARD

By Frank Robbins

PHOTOGRAPHS

by our Staff Photographers

RIL Ship Reloated
Open Day of Juvenile Care Centre
Reception for Pakistan Hockey Team
Interport Dinner for Mayalan Soccer Team
Party at Swedish Consul's House, Island Road
Council of Women Dinner Dance at Assembly Hall
Indian Welfare Society Entertains Blind Children
Opening of Shatin Swimming Pool
All Local Sports
Local Presentations
Local Weddings
Etc. Etc.

Available at SOUTH CHINA MORNING POST, LTD.
Wyndham Street.

MAIL NOTICES

Guest, Anna Russell; 9, Newport;
O.R. Cantonese Fustuns; "The Cru-
Landlord"; 11, Late Wages; 11
Class Down.

PLEASE BE IN YOUR SEATS BY 9 P.M. SHARP

STREAMLINE FILTERS LTD.
FILTERS FOR OIL PURIFICATION

ENGINEERING EQUIPMENT CO. LTD.
H.K. & Shanghai Bank Bldg. Tel. 27789

CHINA MAIL

Page 10

MONDAY, JUNE 8, 1958.

SHEAFFER'S

Skrip

Wet Putty Gave The Clue

BROKE GLASS DOOR OF JAPANESE CONSULATE

Wong Ying, 29, of 32, Ma Pui Village, Tsun Wan, was fined $100 or 10 days' imprisonment, for malicious damage by Mr. B. J. Jennings at Central Magistrate's Court this morning.

He was also ordered to pay $20 compensation for the damage.

It was stated that at 8.50 p.m. on June 7, the defendant was seen by the watchman of 7 Lee House Street going up to the first floor of the building.

The watchman shouted to him asking him the reason for his going up at such a time. But immediately after shouting, the watchman heard the tinkling of glass.

He then saw that the defendant had broken the glass of the door of the Japanese Consulate. The watchman then arrested the defendant.

Wong was given two weeks to pay the fine and compensation.

Theft From Parked Car

Seven lamp glasses were stolen from a private car parked in Parkes Street, near Jordan Road, on Saturday night.

Heroin Found On Fishing Junk

WOMAN ON TRIAL

A pack of wet putty disclosed the hiding place of packets of heroin in a fishing junk, a detective alleged in the Victoria District Court today.

The drug was found in secret compartments cut into a sliding beam in the junk, the detective said.

Detective Sub-Inspector Liu Shu-ling was giving evidence at the trial of a woman charged with possession of dangerous drugs.

Chan Yee, 37, who lives aboard a junk, has pleaded not guilty of having had possession of 11.9 pounds of a salt of heroin on April 24.

Not On Board

Sub-Inspector Liu told Judge K.R. Macfarlane that following information he had received he went with a party of seven other police to Aberdeen on April 24.

The party boarded a junk moored offshore opposite the fish markets.

Three Chinese women, four men and three children were on the junk and Liu asked them who was master of the vessel.

One of the women, Chan Yee, said: "The master is not on board but his name is Fan Ah-hai."

Chan said she was in charge in the master's absence and produced a receipt from her pocket.

Told that the police believed there were dangerous drugs on board the junk, Chan Yee had replied: "There is nothing like that here. We have just returned from fishing."

Permission

When Liu said he was going to search the vessel she said: "Go ahead and search."

Liu went to the fore part of the junk and while there heard someone shout from the stern: "I've got something."

One of the police came up on deck from a hold carrying a metal pot covered with a black cloth.

"Twenty packages were found inside the pot," Liu said he slit one with a knife and found the contents to be similar to dangerous drugs.

Beam Wot

When he asked Chan what it was, she said: "This is what you are looking for," Liu said.

Later while searching Chan's living quarters Liu noticed that the putty in the cracks on an overhead beam was wet.

The bolts holding the beam in position were loose.

After the bolts were removed Liu and another policeman knocked the beam and it dropped away from the deck head about one and a half inches.

They turned the beam on its side and found three compartments cut into each end.

"The Same"

The compartments at one end contained ten packages similar to those found on the deck.

Asked what was in the packages Chan had replied: "The same as before," Liu said.

The hearing is proceeding. Chief Inspector C. L. Smith, assisted by Insp. J. W. Currie prosecuted. Mr. J. C. Stewart appeared for Chan.

FRAUDULENT CONVERSION

Govt. Servant Charged

A Government civil servant, Class III, George Soenderam, 26, appeared before Mr. Hin-shing Lo at Central Magistrate's Court this morning on two charges of fraudulent conversion.

It was stated in Court that the defendant, who had been entrusted with $400 to arrange the issue of a business registration licence to a man and a woman on February 26 and March 3 this year, converted the money to his own use.

The man and woman went to the Business Registration Office, Inland Revenue Department, at Fung House, Connaught Road Central, on the days concerned to renew their licences. They handed $200 each to the defendant who did not give them receipts.

ADMITTED

At the Central Police Station on Saturday the defendant was asked to explain and admitted that he had kept the money himself.

The defendant begged for a chance adding that he had six years' Government service and that he had never committed any crime before.

Mr. Lo asked if he could make restitution. Defendant said he could. Mr. Lo then deferred sentence until Wednesday.

DISTINGUISHED INDIAN VISITOR WELCOMED

His Highness the Maharajah Dhiraj Singh, one of the founders of the Asian Games, arrived in the Colony this morning by PAA from Tokyo. In the above picture he is seen receiving a garland of flowers from a member of the Sikh community of Hongkong, Mr. S. S. Gill, President of the Sikh community in the Colony.

The Maharajah was accompanied by his ADO Rajah Ram Prasad Singh, Greenlee him at the airport were the Indian Trade Commissioner, Mr. B. P. Adarkar and many members of the Sikh community of Hongkong.

Plans For New Shaikiwan Buildings

A number of 40-year-old houses were concerned in exemption proceedings this morning brought before a Tenancy Tribunal presided by Miss K. B. Searle, with Mr. F. C. B. Black and Mr. Bunnan Tong.

The houses concerned in the hearing are Nos. 41-47 Main Street, East, in the Shaikiwan district and have been subject matter for previous exemption application.

Mr. I. R. A. MacCallum of Wilkison and Grist, is representing the applicant, Mr. Yau Cho-choi, registered owner of the site and proprietor of the Sing Hing Company.

Tenants who have filed opposing applications are represented by Mr. F. X. D'Almada Remedios of - DO Almadada Remedios and Co. Miss Pat Leachy of Russ and Co. and Mr. V. Y. F. Lam of Ford Kwan and Co.

Plans to replace the existing houses with four six-storeyed buildings at a cost of $200,000, were placed before the Tribunal by the architect, Mr. H. S. Tom.

In his report he said that the proposed new buildings would be a great improvement on the existing ones as they will not only be more sanitary and comfortable but also be a more economical development of the site.

In cross examination by Mr. Lam, the applicant admitted that he had withdrawn a previous application for exemption because he had not been prepared to pay the high compensation terms indicated by the Tribunal. He added that he was now more prepared to pay higher compensation should it be recommended.

The hearing is continuing to hear evidence of opposing tenants.

Opium Conspiracy Case: Handwriting Evidence 'Dangerous'

Victoria District Judge H. H. B. How was asked this morning to exercise "extreme care" when considering the evidence of a Crown witness in handwriting in the opium conspiracy trial.

Mr. John McNeill, Q.C., Defence Counsel, quoted an authority to show that "evidence of handwriting is precarious and dangerous."

Mr. McNeill argued that the evidence of Mr. Lo Wai-lin, an employee of the first accused, Mohindra Verma, 30-year-old merchant, was not admissible at all as regards handwriting.

Verma and Pui Sal-hung, 35, unemployed, are alleged to have conspired to deal in opium between October last year and February this year, and to have possessed 1,076.25 pounds of opium on February 22.

Objection

Raising objection to Mr. Lo's evidence and consequently to certain documents referred to by him, Mr. McNeill said the Prosecution had gone to a lot of trouble in trying to establish that handwriting on certain documents was that of Verma.

But what they did, Counsel said, was to call Mr. Lo first. At the end of the Prosecution's case, they called Detective Inspector Cheng, who went on to point out certain characteristics between some signatures on different documents.

Mr. McNeill said it was a matter of some significance that the Prosecution called their expert at the end.

Not a single piece of handwriting of Verma's alleged to have been in some of the documents referred to by Mr. Lo was put to Inspector Cheng, he said.

Man Found With Heroin

John Spencer, 27, appeared before Mr. K. A. S. Phillips at Central Magistrate's Court this morning on a charge of possessing dangerous drugs.

He was remanded one day pending a certificate from the Government Chemist.

Defendant was alleged to have been found in possession of a quantity of heroin on a staircase in 293 Lockhart Road on June 7, without a permit from the Director of the Medical and Health Services.

Defendant pleaded guilty.

APPEAL AGAINST DEATH SENTENCE

A 43-year-old man, Lam Shung-ming, found guilty of the murder of his former employer, Mr. Lam Shu-ming, otherwise known as James Ling, today appealed against the sentence of death imposed on him on May 6 at the Criminal Session.

The prosecution's case was that Lam went to the deceased's house at 3 Lanchester Road, ground floor, on December 19 last. He had a quarrel with him and in a fight stabbed him with a triangular file he had brought with him. He also stabbed Mr. Ling's wife and their eight-year-old son, Mason, the prosecution said.

The Full Court comprised the Acting Chief Justice, Mr. Justice T. J. Gould, and the Senior Puisne Judge, Mr. Justice C. W. Rees.

The appellant was represented by Mr. H. L. Hu, instructed by d'Almada and Mason.

Mr. W. A. Blair-Kerr, Senior Crown Counsel, appeared for the Crown, assisted by Chief Detective-Inspector F. Indigo-Buckingham.

Mr. Hu told the Court that he was appealing on the grounds (1) that the Trial Judge had wrongfully admitted the appellant's statement into evidence; (2) that a piece of evidence given by certain prosecution witnesses was prejudicial to the appellant; (3) that the Judge had not sufficiently directed the Jury on the questions of (4) Detective-Inspector F. Indigo-Buckingham.

Mr. Hu told the Court that he was appealing on the grounds (1) that the Trial Judge had wrongfully admitted the appellant's statement into evidence; (2) that a piece of evidence given by certain prosecution witnesses was prejudicial to the appellant; (3) that the Judge had not sufficiently directed the Jury on the questions of (4) Detective-Inspector F. Indigo-Buckingham.

Counsel then began to submit on the various grounds he outlined and cited numerous cases in support of his arguments. Hearing is proceeding.

Hearing is proceeding.

Young Girls Injured In Accidents

An eight-year-old Chinese girl sustained serious injuries when she was hit by a private car in Queen's Road, West, near Western Street, shortly after 12 o'clock yesterday.

The girl, Yau Shue-chun, of 100, Wellington Street, 2nd floor, was admitted to Queen Mary Hospital, where she is receiving treatment.

About 5 o'clock on Saturday afternoon a private car knocked down and injured a four-year-old Chinese girl in Soy Street, near Fa Yuen Street. The injured girl, Tse Yuk-lin, of 45, Dundas Street, was admitted to Kowloon Hospital for treatment.

SIDE GLANCES By Galbraith

"Don't you think we ought to see how we look in one of these—purely in the interest of science?"

From the Files 25 years AGO

THE world-famous pilots, Mr. James Mollison and his wife the former Miss Amy Johnson, met with early disaster in London today when they attempted to leave on their first long-distance flight together. The record-breaking airman and his wife crashed at 1.30 a.m. this morning, their heavily laden plane toppling over while taking off. Neither the occupants were injured but it is believed that it will now be impossible for the two flyers to start before another week has passed.

White lacquer is the new look for fingernails. They look cool on sunburned hands. Only is an alternative to be worn with white dresses.

Women can be mechanically perfect with the artificial aids that have been invented. At the annual convention of beauty specialists in New York some of the "improvements" shown included: artificial lips that will last for 24 hours, made of a gum material; artificial ears made from court plaster; false noses in all shapes, made of wax; artificial fingernails with perfect half moons; and a lotion that gives an artificial twinkle to the eyes.

THE death occurred last night of Mrs. W. T. Bevan at the Victoria Hospital after a long and painful illness.

Mrs. Bevan was one of the oldest residents in Hongkong, having come to the colony in the year 1861, and for the last 60 years all over the roads without looking to see what traffic may be approaching would not venture onto a railway track without considerable trepidation.

A coroner in South-West Lancashire recently prophesied that highways of the future would be fenced off like railway tracks, with clearly defined crossing places for pedestrians. It is strange that the same warning all over the roads without looking to see what traffic may be approaching would not venture onto a railway track without considerable trepidation.

H. M. Aircraft Carrier Hermes, returned to Hongkong yesterday evening from her summer cruise at Wei Hai Wei. The Hermes after extensive service with the China station, will be relieved by Britain's largest aircraft carrier, H.M.S. Eagle, on Sunday morning.

Recently re-conditioned at Devonport, the Eagle is the most modern of the British Aircraft Carriers.

South China provided the biggest upset of the present Lawn Tennis League season when they convincingly beat the Indian Recreation Club yesterday. The IRC were runners-up last year and were considered serious challengers to the CRC this season.

The CRC won both their matches, beating the KCC by 7½ to 1½ and the University by a clean sweep triumph. The Hongkong Cricket Club secured a clean sweep victory over the two pairs from South China 2-0, while Recreation surprised the strong, Croydoner team, in the only other game on the programme.

A CLASS of 20 candidates from King's College all passed the test for the Royal Flying Corps, Society for Proficiency in Rifle and Pistol Shooting, and the Chinese Athletic Association's Bathing Pavilion yesterday afternoon.

Mr. C. W. Brand, who is the official representative of the Society in Hongkong, met after the examination that an exceptionally high standard of proficiency had been attained.

The million dollar building to house the new premises for the Bank of East Asia, the work on which is planned to commence in late August or early September, will be situated on the site now occupied by the present bank building. The construction is expected to take about a year and the new premises to be occupied by the end of 1958.

Going,

Going — almost Gone!

however—there are still some

MERRY WIDOWS

left!

Come in and try them on today — see the difference they make!

Paquerette's

WARNER PROMOTION WEEK

has only just started....so you had better watch our ads daily!

16a Des Voeux Road, C.

Tel. 21-157

Printed and published by PETER PLUMLEY for and on behalf of South China Morning Post Limited at 1-3 Wyndham Street, City of Victoria in the Colony of Hongkong.